FURTHER ADVANCE BY AMERICANS REGARDED SIGNAL FOR WARFARE

Mexican General Trevino Warns Pershing Against Moving Further Into Mexico

CARRANZA'S INSTRUCTIONS

The Threat Will Not Affect United States Troops in Campaign Against the Bandits

TO MOVE WHEN NECESSARY

Officials Have Been Suspicious of Mexican Troop Movements

Chihuahua City, June 16.—General Jacinto Trevina, commanding the Carranza army of the North, today advised General Pershing, American expeditionary commander, that any movement of American troops from their present lines to the south, east or west would be considered a hostile act and a signal to commence warfare. General Trevino acted upon specific instructions from Carranza.

TREVINO'S THREAT WILL NOT ALTER THE SITUATION

Washington, June 16.—There were no indications here tonight that the administration's determination to continue the campaign against bandits in Mexico would in any way be altered by General Trevino's reported threat to begin hostilities if the American troops move from their present positoins in any direction except toward the border.

General Pershing's orders authorize him to move in any direction he finds necessary. Secretary Baker is in St. Louis but the general impression prevailed that these orders would not be changed.

There is no fear of an immediate clash, however, for officials believe General Pershing would avoid taking any steps that might lead to serious consequences until he had communicated with Washington. Late tonight the War Department had no word from him or from any other source to confirm the report of General Trevino's action.

Recent troop movements in Chihuahua state have led officials here to fear that the de facto commanders were preparing for some hostile move. The Mexican forces now are distributed in detachments of considerable strength on two lines, converging from points near the border east and west of General Pershing's line and meeting at a point south of his field base at Namiquipa. The effect has been to close the American troops in a gigantic V.

This disposition of Carranza's forces has been one of the basis of suspicion here as to his friendly intentions. While the Mexicans are so posted, officials declare, they cannot be in good faith conducting any campaigns against bandits. The breaking up of these forces into small parties to scour the country for outlaws is one of the conditions which would be demanded by the United States before the American expedition would be recalled.

Army officers have no fears for the safety of General Pershing's forces no mater what develops. The expedition is amply supplied and General Pershing recently inspected in person the disposition of his troops.

The strategic points at the base camps and along the line of communication are protected by entrenchments.

The report of General Trevino's action gave rise to renewed speculation as to the course to be taken by President Wilson to make certain the safety of the border. The entire National Guard has, in effect, been under waiting orders for several weeks and some of these thought it possible a strong force of guardsmen would be promptly ordered to the border if official dispatches confirmed the Chihuahua City story.

SHOTS WILL BE RUTURNED IF OFFICERS ARE FIRED ON

A statement issued today by Mayor Lea after an investigation into the recent firing of shots at two municipal officials of El Paso from the Mexican side, said that if any further shots are fired at policemen or officials they will be returned. As a further precaution street car traffic from El Paso to Juarez was stopped tonight.

Reports of a Mexican raid near Canutillo, about 15 miles north of here, caused some excitement this evening locally until it developed that the trouble was a private affair between Mexican ranch hands.

AMERICANS AND BANDITS IN CLASH LATE LAST NIGHT

Brownsville, Texas, June 16.—United States troops late tonight engaged a band of between 25 and 30 Mexican bandits about ten miles east of San Benito, Texas, and after exchanging a few shots the Mexicans were scattered. It is reported three Mexicans were killed. So far as known there were no American casualties.

Two companies of the 26th infantry were immediately rushed in automobiles from Harlingen, Texas, to Olmito, ten miles north of Brownsville, in an effort to cut off the bandits, who are reported at midnight headed for the Rio Grande.

ALL TROOPS IN EL PASO ARE ORDERED TO QUARTERS

El Paso, Texas, June 16.—All American troops stationed in El Paso and its environs were ordered to quarters tonight to be held under arms until further notice. The order followed reports to military headquarters that placards printed in Spanish had been posted in Juarez instructing citizens to gather at designated points daily to receive military instructions that they may be prepared to repel possible invasion. The notice was signed by Jesus Valdez, a private citizen, who said he wished his people to "be prepared in the event of a break with the United States."

PERKINS ACTIVE IN BEHALF OF 'PEACE'

Says Negotiations Are Under Way to Restore Good Feeling Between the Two Parties

HAS MANY CONFERENCES

Roosevelt Appears Surprised When Told of Perkins' Statement—E. A. Holt, of North Carolina, Confers With Colonel

New York, June 16.—George W. Perkins, after a series of conferences today with Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Whitman, announced that negotiations were under way looking to a "restoration of the good feeling" between the Progressive and Republican parties.

Mr. Perkins saw Governor Whitman just after the governor had called upon Charles E. Hughes. The Progressive leader then returned to call upon Colonel Roosevelt. He had long talks with both.

W. Murray Crane, chairman of the Republican National Committee, which has authority to secure a manager for the campaign, called on Mr. Roosevelt at his hotel late today. Both declined to discuss their conference.

Colonel Roosevelt appeared to be surprised when told of Mr. Perkins' statement.

"I know nothing whatever about that," he declared. "I have nothing to say. If I have anything to say I will say it under my own signature."

Erwin A. Holt, a delegate from North Carolina to the Progressive National convention, visited the Colonel tonight.

"I am open to conviction," said Mr. Holt, "but I think too much of Colonel Roosevelt to see him put up as a target for defeat."

Colonel Roosevelt's illness, it was announced tonight after a consultation of his physicians, is nothing more serious than a slight attack of pleurisy.

HUGHES AT HOME AFTER STRENUOUS WEEK'S WORK

Washington, June 16.—Charles E. Hughes, weary from a week of strenuous political activity in New York, returned to his home here tonight for the week end. He retired before hearing of George W. Perkins' announcement regarding peace negotiations be-

SITUATION IS SERIOUS BUT NOT YET HOPELESS

Say Representatives of the Railroads and Brotherhoods

Though Half a Million Strike Ballots Have Been Ordered Printed—Both Sides Seem to Anticipate Mediation.

New York, June 16.—Although 500,000 strike ballots were ordered printed here today by the delegates of the four railroad brotherhoods who failed to reach an agreement with the railroads in their demands for shorter hours and higher overtime pay, leaders of the men and representatives of the railroads both said that while the situation is serious, it is not hopeless.

The railroad managers and the brotherhood leaders and delegates each held secret day-long conferences. They discussed, it was learned, policies for their future conduct in the negotiations expected to follow the return of a strike vote. The brotherhood leaders are confident that more than 85 per cent. of the men will vote in favor of a general strike which, however according to the wording of the ballot, cannot be called until all efforts toward an amicable adjustment of their differences have failed.

Informal interviews today indicated that both sides took to a settlement through mediation under the Newlands act. The railroads, the employes believe, may drop at the last moment their firm stand for the elimination of "double compensation" rules and con-

RUSSIANS REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS

They Are Steadily Advancing Against Austrians From Pripet to Czernowitz

PRISONERS NUMBER 170,000

After Fording the Bluichevka River the Russians Make an Attack, Capturing 5,000 Men—British Claim Gains.

The forward drive of the Russian armies along the Austrian front continues with apparently undiminished successes. From the Pripet marshes southward to Czernowitz the forces of General Brusiloff, according to reports from Petrograd, are throwing back counter attacks and are advancing steadily. In 13 days the Russians have taken prisoner almost 170,000 men and have captured immense stores of war booty, says the Russian war office.

Battles southeast of Lutsk, between Zozin and Tarnovka and northwest of Buczacz have brought further successes to the Russian arms. In an action on the Bluichevka river, southeast of Lutsk, more than 5,000 men were captured after the attacking Russians had forded the river. The fighting continues northwest of Buczacz, where the Germans are co-operating with the Austro-Hungarians, but the Russians report the capture here thus far of 6,000 men from the Teutonic allies.

Attempts of the Austrians and Germans to take the offensive on many sectors of the long front were repulsed, according to Petrograd. The Russian war office also chronicles the repulse of attacks in the region of Sokul, southeast of Kovel, one of the objectives of the present Russian drive. Berlin reports the capture of 400 Russians during an attack on a German position north of Przewloka.

Around Verdun the French and German armies were inactive during the day, there having been only intermittent artillery bombardments. Paris says it has been confirmed that the French attack of Thursday on the slope south of LeMort Homme resulted in the capture of German trenches on a front of about two-thirds of a mile.

While London claims further advances for the British forces in Mesopotamia, in the region of Kutz El Amara, Constantinople asserts the British have retired from within the range of the Turkish guns. The occupancy of Imam Mansura on the south bank of the Tigris river and the pushing forward of British trenches to within two hundred yards of the Turks at Sannayat, on the north bank of Tigris are claimed by London. On the other hand the Turks say the British camp has been removed from the Tigris below Kut El Amara, owing to the activity of the Turkish guns against it.

British forces operating in the eastern part of German east Africa have made further advances and have occupied two villages. Near the coast the British have taken Korogwe and also have seized positions in the Victoria Nyanza sector.

14,000 MORE MEN AND 100 OFFICERS TAKEN BY RUSSIANS

Petrograd, via London, June 16.—The capture of an additional 100 officers and 14,000 men was announced today by the wa roffice. The Russians successes in the offensive along the southern front are continuing, the statement declares. The supreme commander, the czar, has received the following telegram from the king of Italy:

"I am in harmony with the whole Italian people in expressing the sentiment of profound admiration for the victorious development of the powerful offensive of your majesty's armies, and

TEXTILE ASSOCIATION MEETS AT ASHEVILLE

Over Four Hundred Delegates Attending the Convention.

Annual Address of President Sherard is Heard—Report Favors Permanent Textile Exposition at Greenville, S. C.

Asheville, N. C., June 14.—With over 400 delegates in attendance the ninth annual convention of the Southern Textile Association opened here today with President W. M. Sherard, of Williamston, S. C., presiding. The meeting was marked by the address of President Sherard in which he referred to pending Federal and state legislation regulating the hours of children in textile mills and the need of a rigidly enforced compulsory education law, and by an address of Gordon Cobb, of Inman, S. C., in which the speaker stressed the fact that increased efficiency in the mills must come from its operatives, and not from improved machinery.

After a warm discussion, the association voted to continue its semi-annual sessions, to hold the November meeting at Columbia, S. C., while the spring meeting will be held at the Isle of Palms, S. C.

The committee on organization reported favorable on the establishment of a permanent textile exposition at Greenville, S. C., and the exposition will open there during the fall of 1917. Practically all of the $75,000 necessary for the exposition has been subscribed.

WOMEN TO RENEW FIGHT FOR BALLOT

Suffragists United in Denouncing Plank in Democratic Platform as Inadequate

PREPARE TO FIGHT WILSON

Congress Will be Given One More Chance to "Make Good"—Mrs. Catt Wires the President for Interpretation of Plank.

St. Louis, June 16.—Leaders of both the Woman's Party and the National American Suffrage Association tonight united in denouncing as inadequate the suffrage plank of the Democratic platform and declared they would immediately resume the fight in Congress for national recognition.

"We shall return to Washington as quickly as possible," Miss Ann Martin, chairman of the Woman's Party, said. "We are going to give the Congress one more chance to make good before adjournment. If it does not see fit to pass a constitutional amendment war will follow.

Weaker Than Republican.

"I regard the Democratic plank weaker than the Republican. The preamble of the latter, at least, is regarded by some as giving national endorsement to suffrage.

"Thus far we have not worked out details of our plans for fighting the Democratic party this fall for we have hopes that the congressional leaders will see the light. But if they continue to oppose us, we will fight them. And it will be a good fight, too. We have 4,000,000 women voters, $500,000 in cash, a good cause, and a determined spirit. With all of these we cannot help but win."

Immediately after the adjournment of the convention Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of National American Woman Suffrage Association, called a special meeting of her national board and later issued the following official statement:

"No suffragist who was present at the convention today could misinterpret either the speeches or the action taken by the Democratic party in adopting the alleged woman suffrage plank in its national platform.

Tried to "Hoodwink" Them.

"The Democrats admitted freely in their speeches that 'political exigency' demanded 'some kind of a suffrage plank,' and they thought to hoodwink the woman by a jumble of words that were designed to meet the situation, but in no sense succeeded.

"The so-called suffrage plank, which they adopted, after bursts of eloquence that were far more frank than intelligent, cannot be expected to win the presidential campaign for them. But it may well be expected to win the antagonism of millions of men and women voters in all parts of the country.

"If the plank adopted today is the President's choice the world may justly accuse him of descending to the tricks of the cheapest politician in order to bid for votes by flaunting a plank that may be interpreted in as many ways as there are people."

Mrs. Catt also sent the following telegram to President Wilson:

Asks President's Interpretation.

"Inasmuch as Governor Ferguson, of Texas, and Senator Walsh, of Montana, made diametrically opposite statements in the Democratic convention today with regard to your attitude toward the suffrage plank adopted by the convention, we apply to you directly to state your position on the plank and give your precise interpretation of its meaning."

The nationals will hold another of its executive board meetings tomorrow to outline a definite plan of attack on Congress in an effort to push through the Susan B. Anthony, or another, constitutional amendment.

KILLED BY BULLET AFTER IT PASSES THROUGH CHURCH

Sister of the Dead Man's Slayer Later Dies From the Shock.

Huffville, Va., June 16.—Home A. Wimmer, 52 years old, a prominent merchant of Huffville, was accidentally shot and killed here yesterday afternoon by Stafford Dangerfield, when the latter, using a 32-calibre rifle, shot through a frame church which stood between the two men. A few minutes later Miss Bettie Dangerfield, the rifle user's sister, hearing of the tragedy died of shock.

According to witnesses Dangefield, not knowing any one was in the line of his aim remarked to a friend:

"Watch me shoot through that church." He fired, a cry was heard and it was discovered Wimmer had been shot through the heart at a distance of 500 feet. Dangerfield was prostrated when he learned his shot had proved fatal. He was not held by authorities. Wimmer leaves a widow and six children.

PLATFORM ADOPTED WITH PLANKS ON AMERICANISM AND SUFFRAGE AS APPROVED BY THE PRESIDENT

CHAMPION HAND-SHAKER AT WORK IN ST. LOUIS

Col. John I. Martin, sergeant-at-arms of the Democratic National Committee, is the greatest hand-shaker the Democratic party contains, and for many years he has been an asset, which mere candidates for President and chairman of National committees, who come and go, have recognized. When the colonel shakes your hand he throws his soul into it. See his nose, that indication of the impulses of the soul, in this photograph. It bends downward, and his face spreads out into a smile as wide as Texas and as long as California. In this photograph the colonel was welcoming a new member of the National Committee. The Colonel just loves every member of the committee.

CHALLENGES COMPARISON OF DEMOCRACY'S RECORD WITH THAT OF ANY OTHER PARTY

Platform Adopted at St. Louis Reviews Achievements of the Wilson Administration; Declares for Rigid Policy of Americanism; Favors Adequate Preparedness for Defense; Refers to Mexico and the Government's Foreign Policy; Summarizes Legislation in Behalf of Labor.

St. Louis, June 16.—The principal planks of the Democratic platform adopted today are as follows:

Record of Achievement.

"We endorse the administration of Woodrow Wilson * * *.

"We challenge comparison of our record, our keepings of pledges and our constructive legislation, with those of any party of any time. * * *.

"Our archaic banking and currency system, prolific of panic and disaster under Republican administrations—long the refuge of the money trust—has been supplanted by the Federal Reserve Act, a true Democracy of credit under government control, already proved a financial bulwark in a world crisis, mobilizing our resources, placing abundant credit at the disposal of legitimate industry and making a currency panic impossible.

"We have created a Federal Trade Commission to accommodate the perplexing questions arising under the anti-trust laws so that monopoly may be strangled at its birth and legitimate industry encouraged. Fair competition in business is now assured.

"We have effected an adjustment of the tariff * * * adequate for revenue under peace conditions and fair to the customer and to the producer. We have adjusted the burdens of taxation so that swollen incomes bear their equitable share. Our revenues have been sufficient in times of world stress and will largely exceed the expenditures for the current fiscal year.

"We have lifted human labor from the category of commodities, and have secured to the working man the right of voluntary association for his protection and welfare. We have protected the rights of the laborer against the unwarranted issuance of writs of injunction, and have guaranteed to him the right of trial by jury in cases ofalleged contempt committed outside the presence of the court.

"We have advanced the parcel post to genuine efficiency, enlarged the postal savings system, added 10,000 rural delivery routes and extensions, thus reaching two and one-half millions additional people; improved the postal service in every branch and for the first time in our history, placed the postoffice system on a self-supporting basis, with actual surplus in 1913, 1914 and 1916.

Tariff.

"We affirm our belief in the doctrine of a tariff for the purpose of providing sufficient revenue for the operation of the government economically administered and unreservedly endorse the Underwood tariff law, as truely exemplifying that doctrine. * * * Two years of a war which has directly involved most of the chief industrial nations of the world, and which has indirectly affected the life and industry of all nations, are bringing about economic changes more varied and far-reaching than the world has ever before experienced. In order to ascertain just what those changes may be the Democratic Congress is providing for a non-partisan tariff commission to make impartial and thorough study of every economic condition that may throw light either upon our past or upon our future fiscal policy with regard to the imposition of taxes on imports or with regard to the changed and changing conditions under which our trade is carried on. We cordially indorse this timely proposal and declare ourselves in sympathy with the principle and purpose of shaping legislation within that field in accordance with clearly established facts rather than in accordance with trade demands of selfish interests, or upon information provided largely, if not exclusively, by them.

Americanism.

"The part that the United States will play in the new day of international relationships which is now upon us will depend upon our preparation and our character. The Democratic party therefore recognizes the assertion and triumphant demonstration of the indivisibility and coherent strength of the nation, as the supreme issue of this day, in which the whole world faces the crisis of manifold change. It summons all men, of whatever origin, or creed, who would count themselves Americans, to join in making clear to all the world the unity and consequent power of America.

"This is an issue of patriotism. To taint it with partisanship would be to defile it. In this day of test America must show itself, not a nation of partisans, but a nation of patriots. There is gathered here in America the best of the blood, the industry and the genius of the world, the elements of a great race and a magnificent society to be melted in a mighty and splendid nation.

"Whoever, actuated by the purpose to promote the interest of a foreign power in disregard of our own country's welfare or to injure this government in its foreign relations or cripple or destroy its industries at home and who ever by arousing prejudices of a racial, religious or other nature, creates discord and strife among our people, so as to obstuct the wholesome process of unification, is faithless to the trust which the privileges of citizenship repose in him and disloyal to his country.

"We ,therefore, condemn as subver-

Favors Extension of Franchise to Women, State by State, on Same Terms as to Men

THERE WAS HEATED FIGHT

For a Time It Looked as if Suffrage Plank Was Lost, But Wilson's Desire Carried

CONVENTION COMES TO END

Not a Voice Raised Against Declaration on Americanism.

St. Louis, June 16.—The Democratic National Convention finished its work today by adopting the party platform exactly as approved by President Wilson and submitted by the Resolutions committee, including the plank on Americanism and that favoring woman suffrage, but not until the harmony of its three days' sessions had been disturbed with a row over the suffrage plank.

No voice was raised against the vigorous declaration of the Americanism plank, but at one time it looked as if the suffrage plank had been lost. After Senator Walsh, of Montana, had told the convention that President Wilson himself considered it vital to party success, however, it was voted into the platform by a ballot of 888½ to 181½. The entire platform then was adopted without roll call.

Plank Very Brief.

As it went into the platform the suffrage plank stands:

"We favor the extension of the franchise to the women of this country state by state, on the same terms as to the men."

The woman suffrage leaders considered it a much more favorable declaration than they got from the Republican convention at Chicago; they threw all their force behind it and won the support of the administration leaders who were found fighting for them when danger threatened.

Haggard and worn from an all night session, the platform-makers were not ready with their report until afternoon when Senator Stone, sleepless for more than 30 hours, took the speaker's chair and explaining that he was too tired to read the document gave over this task to Senator Walsh, of Montana, and Senator Hollis, of New Hampshire, who took turns reading the long declaration.

The fight on the suffrage plank was in the air. Everybody was keyed up to it and when at the conclusion of the reading of the platform, Martin Lomasney, of Boston, a delegate claimed the attention of the chair, it was thought he was opening the fight. It was several minutes before the shouts of approval and disapproval could be stilled sufficiently to hear that he wanted to put the convention on record as sympathizing "with the people of Ireland."

"Raus mit him," roared a Baltimore delegate and the convention hall rocked with laughter.

Real Fight Breaks.

The real fight broke immediately after, however, when Governor Ferguson, of Texas, who headed the minority report against the administration plank was given thirty minutes in which to present it.

The plank offered by the minority was:

"The Democratic party always has stood for the sovereignty of the several states in the control and regulation of elections. We re-affirm the historic position of our party in this regard and favor the continuance of that wise provision of the Federal Constitution which vests in the several states of the Union the power to prescribe the qualifications of their electors."

Besides Ferguson, the report was signed by former Representative Bartlett of Georgia; James R. Nugent, of New Jersey, and Stephen B. Fleming of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The burden of Governor Ferguson's argument was that suffrage, being purely a state's right question, the wording of the majority plank was a presumptuous recommendation to the states on how to conduct their electorates.

Bombarded With Questions.

Anti-suffrage delegates on the floor plied the governor with questions which brought out in the answers fresh arguments against the administration plank. When Ferguson had finished the convention was in confusion, and the tone of the uproar in the delegate sections was indicative of sympathy with the opponents of the administration plank.

When Senator Stone took the speaker's place to defend the plank he was bombarded with questions and argument from delegates on the floor which eventually exhausted most of the time allotted to him.

Anti-suffrage delegates loudly challenged his references to Ferguson's

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE IS CLOSED UNTIL MONDAY

While He Attends Funeral of Private Secretary Kerr

New Corporations—B. & L. Convention at Greenville Successful — Encampment of National Guard —Raleigh News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 16.—Governor Craig went this afternoon to Asheville to attend the funeral of his private secretary, Col. J. P. Kerr, which is to take place Sunday afternoon. The executive offices are closed until after the funeral, the entrance to the private secretary's office draped and the flags on the State house and the new administration building placed at half mast as a tribute to the deceased.

Three new corporations were chartered today as follows:

The Selwyn Hotel Co., of Charlotte, capital $50,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed, the incorporators being J. J. Cain, Columbia, S. C.; Samuel Baron and Jules Hymann, both of Augusta, Ga. The company is to do a general hotel and real estate development business.

The Pilot Hosiery Mills Co., of West Durham, capital $100,000 authorized and $15,000 subscribed by E. C. Stone, K. C. Stone, W. P. Clements, J. H. Stone and others for a general textile manufacturing, dyeing, bleaching and knitting business in hosiery, underwear and the like.

The Mill Devices Co., of Durham, capital $50,000 authorized and $7,000 subscribed by W. J. Griswold, C. C. Thomas, C. W. Boyd and others for manufacturing and dealing in mill supplies, developing patents and general mill supply business.

Pleased With B. & L. Meeting.

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young was much pleased with the interest in and success of the session of the North Carolina Building and Loan League just held at Greenville, N. C. He addressed the league on the building and loan as an asset for the community and the State.

Early in the week Commissioner Young attended the meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Commissioners of Insurance in New York, the principal work of the committee being preparations for the next session of the convention, which will be in Richmond, Va. He says there is every assurance that the Far West and other remote states will be very generally represented at the convention in Richmond.

Special officers of the State Department of Insurance have under way just now a new special investigation into the circumstances of a recent fire at Fuquay Springs that burned two stores and a tobacco warehouse. There are strong evidences of incendiarism and arrests are likely to develop very soon.

A second trial of the damage suit of Charles Lassiter vs. Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, developed a verdict for $200 in the stead of a former $350 verdict that was appealed to the Supreme Court and remanded for second trial. Counsel for the company has given notice of another appeal.

For Summer Encampments.

On Wednesday of next week there will be a session of the advisory board of the North Carolina National Guard here for the special purpose of definitely planning for the summer encampments which will be by regiments, most likely late in July and early in August. It seems unlikely that the new military bill pending in Congress, which will have to become effective before the encampments can be pulled off, will not be finally ratified before the middle of July.

Dr. D. Manning, Confederate veteran, was found dead in his room this morning at the Soldiers' Home, where he has resided since 1911. He was a member of company C, Third Regiment.

Hearing Book Men.

State officers constituting the State textbook commission and the members of the sub-commission and the members representatives of the bank concerns offering textbooks for adoption. The hours are 10 to 12 o'clock and the book men are being heard by subjects and by lot as to the order of their appearance. The hearing will likely continue th eremainder of this month, at least, and there will be no sessions from June 21 to 26 on account of the necessity for the State officers to be in Washington for the ceremonies for the unveiling of the Vance statue in Statuary Hall.

Refund of Freight Charges.

As an indication of the daily grind of the Corporation Commission in the interest of the shippers of the State and in performing other duties devolving on the department, there was an order today in which the Southern Railway and the Atlantic Coast Line are directed to refund to the Southern Timber & Lumber Co., lumber freight charges in four cases that aggregate $94.47. The refunds are to be made by the Southern Railway. The proceeding was based on the ruling of the commission in the Sampson Lumber Co., case that the commodity rates adopted by the special rate commission are the maximum rates that the Southern and the Coast Line may charge.

Near Candor, Montgomery county, revenue raiders have just cut up a big distillery. It was on the premises of William McMaster, who has heretofore served more than one term in the Federal prison at Atlanta. The still was 140 gallon capacity and was equipped with water pipes that were well installed. A large quantity of supplies were also destroyed. Revenue Collectors H. G. Gulley and John Morrison were the raiders.

am sending to you the warmest and most friendly congratulations. Being convinced that the efforts thus happily commenced will lead to definite success, I pray you to accept the assurance of my unchanging friendship."

On the front of the armies south of Polessi the fighting continues. The enemy has suffered heavy losses in encounters with our troops. The following details of the operations in many sectors have been received:

"In the course of a powerful but fruitless counter attack by the enemy in the region of Sokul, north of Rojitche, we took as prisoner 20 officers and 1,750 men.

"In the region west and southwest of Lutsk during the pursuit of the enemy our cavalry fought several successful actions. Northwest of Kremenez our bold soldiers of General Sakharoff's force, after desperate fighting dislodged the enemy from his fortified positions on the river Bluichevka between Kozin and Tarnovka by a vigorour assault. One of our young regiments, led by Colonel Tatarnoff, after a fierce fight, forded the deep river which was up to their chins. One company was engulfed and died a heroic death but the valor of their comrades and their officers resulted in the disorderly flight of the enemy. Seventy officers and 5,000 men were taken prisoners and two guns, a great many machine guns, 1,000 rifles, cartridges and enormous reserves of barbed wire were captured in this action.

"By an equally impetuous coup, our infantry, with powerful support from the artillery, captured Rostok wood, south of the lower Potchieff, taking prisoners, machine guns and bomb throwers.

"By a heroic effort the troops of General Stcherbatchoff's army overthrew the Austrians in the region of Gouvoronka and Guilovody, on the west bank of the Stripa.

"Northwest of Bucsacz the engagement with the Austrians and the Germans continues unceasingly. So far we have captured 6,000 prisoners, guns and machine guns.

"An enemy aeroplane has dropped bombs on Tarnopol.

"Our brave Don Cossacks have taken prisoners, seven officers and 600 men. The approximate total of yesterday's captures is 100 officers, 14,000 men and a quantity of war material.

"On the Dvina front and further south in the region of Popesie there has been an exchange of artillery and rifle fire. Our artillery made a violent attack yesterday in the region of Dvinsk. Enemy attempts to take the ogensive in many sectors were everywhere repulsed by our fire.

"Caucasus front: In the coast region the Turks made numerous attempts to take the offensive, all of which were repulsed.

"In the direction of Bagdad on the 14th the Turks took the offensive and occupied the village of Serpoul. They were afterward ejected by our troops and thrown back to their original positions."

MASSED ATTACK OF THE RUSSIANS WAS REPULSED

Berlin, June 16. (by wireless).—Russian troops in dense formation, attacked the Teutonic lines near Przewloka, but were repulsed by General Von Bothmer's troops, it was announced by army headquarters.

tween the Republicans and Progressives.

The nominee's apparent desire to bring Progressives and Republicans into accord is said to have been discussed at several conferences in New York between Mr. Hughes and some of the Progressive leaders, notably Everett Colby, of New Jersey; Oscar S. Straus and S. C. McClure, who called at the Hughes headquarters there. To other callers the nominee has voiced the sentiment that the interests of both Progressives and Republicans demanded that differences should be subordinated and harmony restored before the actual work of the campaign is begun.

Desirability of bringing the Progressives under the Republican standard again was discussed also, it is understood, in the long conference Tuesday night between Mr. Hughes and W. Murray Crane, chairman of the Republican national sub-commitee on organization, who is said to have conferred with other party leaders on the subject since then. No one would authorize the statement that such a movement was on foot but indications have not been lacking that peace overtures were imminent.

Indications are that the attitude of the Progressives may have much bearing on the nominee's selection of a national chairman and campaign manager. It became known tonight that some Progressive leaders have a candidate for the chairmanship in William Loeb, Jr., who was secretary to President Roosevelt. It is believed that he will virtually be his own campaign manager and that a selection of a man to fill the position will be nominal.

George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the national committee for three terms, is expected by those close to Mr. Hughes to succeed himself.

The personnel of the new executive committee and the choice of a summer home are other matters to which the nominee will give careful consideration. In selecting his summer home he will consult the wishes of Mrs. Hughes and will endeavor to find a place in the mountains in New York not too remote from New York city. Upon the selection of a summer residence depends to some extent the date of Mr. Hughes' formal notification. The ceremony probably will occur at the summer home soon after July 4.

Although Mr. Hughes contemplates receiving calls from party leaders while in Washington, he will not hold open house as he did in New York.

TRIBUTE PAID TOM PENCE

St. Louis, June 15.—An unusual high tribute was paid the memory of Tom Pence yesterday when the Democratic National Convention adjourned until today at noon out of respect to its former secretary. The resolution offered by President Walsh, of Montana, was adopted without a dissenting voice. As the resolution was read the thousands of men and women who had known the North Carolinian at every convention for the past 15 years, arose to a man and stood with bared heads until the secretary had finished reading. Then silently they left the hall.

MOTHER OF MARION LAMBERT TESTIFIES AGAINST ORPET

Her Statement on Stand Contradicts Other Testimony Given.

Waukegan, Ill., June 16.—Mrs. Frank Lambert, mother of Marion Lambert, the Lake Forest high school girl, whose body was found in a snow drift in Helm's woods last February, took the stand today in the trial of William Orpet, the University of Wisconsin student, who is charged with the murder of the girl, a former sweet-heart.

Dressed in deep mourning, Mrs. Lambert told of her daughter's sunny disposition, which she retained until the day of her death.

This contradicted statements by Miss Josephine Davis, Marion's most intimate friend, who had testified that the victim of the Helm's woods tragedy frequently was very unhappy and several times threatened self destruction.

Miss Davis had stated under oath that Marion wept on February 6th at her birthday party, three days before her death because Orpet had transferred his affections to another girl.

Mrs. Lambert asserted today that the tears were occasioned by the inability of another girl friend, Annie Paulson, to spend the night with her.

Other witnesses were Dr. Ralph W. Webster and Dr. William E. McNally, toxicologists, who expressed the opinion that the cyanide of potassium which caused Marion's death was taken in solution; Fred I. Wenban, the undertaker, and Wilson Frankland, Walter Sales and Albert Hopman, who went over the ground in Helm's woods looking vainly for the container of the poison.

The defense adduced from the undertaker that he picked up a piece of paper while following the footprints in the snow. It is said the defense will introduce witnesses on this point in support of its contention that Marion brought the poison in powdered form in a paper to the scene of her death.

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

CALOMEL WHEN BILIOUS? NO! STOP! MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Is Harmless To Clean Your Sluggish Liver and Bowels.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

NEARLY 100 OARSMEN WILL BE IN REGATTA

Annual Intercollegiate Event on Hudson River Today

Not in Recent Years Have the Crews Made a Start With Greater Uncertainty of Outcome—Four Universities Represented.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 16.—Close to one hundred oarsmen, representing four of the Eastern universities, will participate in the twenty-second annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association on the Hudson River here tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting. Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse and Pennsylvania have each entered eight-oared crews in the four mile varsity, two mile junior and two mile freshman events and close contests are expected in all three races.

Not in recent years have the crews gone to the starting line with greater uncertainty regarding the outcome or greater handicaps surmounted in preliminary training. Unseasonable weather conditions have prevailed both upon local and home waters during the major portion of the outdoor training period and few if any of the competing eights have rowed for any length of time in fixed or permanent order. Changes and shake-ups have been the order rather than the exception at all the rowing quarters and the coaches were in doubt until the last few days regarding the final make-up of the sweep swingers.

Even the date of the regatta is unusually early and for a time, earlier in the season, it appeared as though the races rowed here yearly, with but one exception since 1895, would be transferred to another course. While these weather conditions and uncertainties have handicapped both the coaches and crews, they have in no way detracted from the interest in the regatta and in fact have rather increased the enthusiasm, since it is conceded that the three races tomorrow are exceptionally open and the outcome likely to be in doubt until the last stroke in each event.

The regatta will be lacking in national character this year, however, as for the first time in five seasons the Pacific coast will not be represented by a crew. Neither Washington nor Stanford has an eight on the course although earlier in the spring it appeared likely that one or both would cross the continent to test their rowing prowess against the leading combinations of the eastern colleges. On their records here in past years and judging from the reports that have come East this season, the Pacific coast arsmen would have been accorded unusual attention owing to the lack of a decided favorite in the four-mile race—the big event of the regatta.

Three of the four coaches who will coach crews in the contests of the morrow are veterans of the Poughkeepsite course and noted for their ability to whip their oarsmen into winning combinations at the eleventh hour. Rice of Columbia; Courtney of Cornell and Ten Eyck of Syracuse have all sprung big surprises in their day. None of the trio is making any predictions on the eve of the regatta and the forecasters are obliged to base their pronostications upon what the eights have shown since their arrival here and the few time trials which have been made when the clockers were present, watch in hand.

Because of the many shifts in the personnel of the crews during the season which closes with the regatta tomorrow, the results of the preliminary races of the spring have little or no bearing upon the probable outcome of the events carded for the Hudson course during the next twenty-four hours. On May 13 the Columbia and Pennsylvania eights took part in the Child's Cup one mile 550 yards race at Philadelphia, finishing respectively third and fourth to Princeton and the navy crews. Two weeks later Cornell defeated the same Princeton crew by a quarter of a length in a two-mile race but the oarsmen were not the same combination which now occupies the Cornell 'varsity shell.

Fewer changes have been made in the Syracuse four-mile crew than in the other eights and in some respects the Orange 'varsity crew is the dark horse of the regatta. In the only preliminary race in which Syracuse took part this season, the Ten Eyck combination defeated the navy crew on May 20 by a length and a quarter in a two mile race in 10m 17s. Previous to this race the navy had won from Pennsylvania by two lengths in a race of a little less than a mile and a half and defeated both Columbia and Pennsylvania in the Child's cup race.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the coaches of two of the crews and the results their pupils achieve in the races this year. In the case of Charles E. Courtney, of Cornell, the dean of all American rowing coaches, the regatta of tomorrow will be his valedictory. After many years of successful coaching at Ithaca University, Courtney has been obliged to announce his retirement from active work as a result of a fracture of the skull received while en route from Ithaca to Poughkeepsie for a regatta a year ago. Courtney attempted to renew his coaching after a winter of rest under the care of physicians but was forced to undergo further efforts in this direction shortly after the Cornell crews arrived at Poughkeepsite earlier in the month.

The University of Pennsylvania oarsmen appear under the coaching of a new instructor this season in the person of Joseph Wright, a former Canadian oarsman and all-round athlete, who succeeded Vivian Nickalls upon the latter's return to England for war service. Wright agreed to coach for one season at Pennsylvania as an experiment. He does not receive any compensation beyond his expenses but the agreemet included a future contract at a substantial salary in case Wright's crews make good and he desires to continue as coach after the first season's trial. Thus at the present time rowing with Wright is still an avocation and he preserves his status as an amateur oarsman.

The Intercollegiate Rowing Association staged its first regatta on the Poughkeepsie course in 1895 with Cornell, Pennsylvania and Columbia as the charter members of the association. Since that year twenty-one regattas have been held by the organization, all but one being rowed on the Hudson. The exception was in 1898, when the races were held at Saratoga and the course shortened from four miles to three. The next season found the crews back at Poughkeepsie where the four mile 'varsity aquatic duels were renewed. During this period of twenty-one years ten colleges and universities have been rprsentd by crews in the feature race of the regatta, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania have rowed in every race; Wisconsin in 17; Syracuse in 15; Georgetown in 8; Washington and Stanford in two each and Harvard and navy in one each.

Cornell has mad ethe best showing, having won thirteen firsts; four seconds and a like number of thirds. Pennsylvania and Syracuse are tied for second honors with three victories each and Columbia comes next with two.

Y. M. C. A. NOT TO HAVE LEAGUE BASEBALL THIS SEASON

Gymnasium Classes Will Take Its Place, Says Mr. Johnson.

Although no official Y. M. C. A. baseball leagues will be organized this season in either the senior or boys' department of the Association, the members of the boys' department have inaugurated games for all comers which are usually played in early mornings in the square back of the county jail and court house. Mr. C. Walton Johnson, in charge of the boys' department said last night that owing to the large number who are away at the Y. M. C. A. Camp at Lake Waccamaw, it was not intended to have any regular leagues organized.

Mr. J. P. Seitters said that in the men's department it had been decided to abandon the idea of having a "Twilight League," and that the gymnasium classes at the association in the afternoon would take its place.

W. L. ROBBINS WINS SHOOT OF NEW HANOVER GUN CLUB

Beginners Will Shoot for Price Friday, June 30, and May Win Cup.

At the shoot held by the members of the New Hanover Gun Club yesterday afternoon at the club grounds, 17th and Castle streets, the high man was Mr. W. L. Robbins, who made a score of 44 out of 50; the second honors to Mr. U. A. Underwood, who scored 40 hits out of 50. Owing to the high wind high scores were not possible.

The feature of the shoot was the fact that the beginners, that is new members of the club, did better shooting than the senior members of the club.

For the next two or three shoots it is hoped that a large number of beginners and prospective members of the club will be on deck, as on Friday, June 30, a beginners' shoot will be held for a prize offered by the Dupont Powder Company, of Wilmington, Del. These beginners' shoots will be held throughout the State and to the club having the largest number of beginners contesting, the Dupont Company will offer a handsome silver trophy cup, which can be contested for by the members of the winning club.

FIRST GAMES OF NEW SERIES

Cubs Meet Red Sox at Winter Park While Latter Goes to East Wilmington

The Interurban Baseball League opens the second half of the championship series this afternoon with games at Winter Park and East Wilmington. The Cubs were the winners of the first half of the series. The games will be called promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Many good ball players have recently returned from colleges and universities, where they have been students during the past year, and a number of them have been drafted into the Interurban League. With their forces augmented the four teams in this league expect to have much better games than during the first half and the games will be more closely contested. There will be no charge for admission and the public is invited.

The Cubs will play the Red Sox at Winter Park this afternoon. For the Cubs, Page and Todd will likely be the batteries while Laughridge, Gordon and Cashwell will probably be the batteries for the Red Sox.

At East Wilmington, the home team will meet the boys from Winter Park. O. Fearsall and Walsak will likely be the batteries for the home team while Shaw and Standland are expected to represent Winter Park.

ALL CREWS READY FOR THE ANNUAL ROWING EVENT TODAY

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 16.—Varsity, junior and freshman crews from Cornell, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Columbia university were ready tonight for the twenty-second annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association on the Hudson tomorrow. Unfavorable weather and water conditions which have handicapped the oarsmen during the last ten days of training, however, continued to the eve of the race day.

Coaches and experts agree that not in several years have the trior of races presented a more uncertain aspect. Syracuse is the choice of many for the 'varsity four-mile event and is a five to four favorite to defeat Cornell, the second choice. Even money also was laid that the Quaker crew would defeat Columbia whose backers were asking 3 to 1 on the New York crew against the field.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

The forest trees once asked the fruit trees, "Why is the rustling of your leaves not heard in the distance?" The fruit trees replied, "We can dispense with the rustling to manifest our presence; our fruits testify for us." —THE TALMUD.

Be enthusiastic.

A great many of us have had no personal experience with an ovation.

The Republican national platform neglected to point out a sure way to catch Villa.

Those who want George to do it had better have some good way of getting in touch with George.

No, Reuben, a man can never call his wife Forlorn Hope, because there would then be no such thing as leading one.

Mr. Hughes wants the people to know that he is an "out and out American." We are glad he has no reason to suspect himself.

It is reported from the jungles of Africa that the lion and the lamb are lying down together—the lamb on the inside of the lion as usual.

Probably Professor Taft is in hiding to avoid displaying his tumultous emotions. One place where a fellow can laugh to himself is out behind the barn.

How can we be the "unterrified Democracy" when the ladies begin to terrify us with threats that they will defeat Democratic candidates for Congress? How unlady-like that would be!

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is confident that the new silver dimes, quarters and halves will be popular. If we were as popular with them as they are with us we'd be perfectly satisfied.

Roosevelt used to be worried over the disconcerting silence of Hughes. It is now the Colonel's chance to hand out a silence so ominous as to cause Hughes to indulge in considerable perturbation himself.

Our idea of a superfluous remark was expressed by Colonel Roosevelt when he said: "I am out of politics." Most every one of us immediately came to that conclusion at the moment when that old stand pat crowd put him out at Chicago.

The Creedmoor Times-News (Republican) observes: "The majority of the voters of the State have said by their ballots that they are satisfied with the way things are going in North Carolina, and that the officials in authority can pile taxes upon them beyond endurance, and everything is lovely. Well, if the majority can stand it, we will have to, so what's the use in kicking now?" We think it would be awfully nice to emigrate to a state in which the taxes are lower than they are in North Carolina. If the Republicans will publish a list of any such states, we will help to boost them so the Republicans can emigrate to them and take us along so we won't be bothered with taxes. Name the states. We are interested.

Says a contemporary: "A voter who has been a Democrat in the past has more reasons for being a Democrat still." That's all right, but no Democrat should be still. He ought to work with all his power to keep the people's government in the hands of a party which has done more for the people in four years than the Republican party did in fifty. Americans ought to take keen pleasure in voting against the Republican party which made the people's government a subsidiary of special interests who amassed millions out of it. The plans to defeat the Democracy in this campaign were set on foot at a billionaire dinner paid for by men who have been pampered beneficiaries of Republicanism. We noticed in a painful way that none of the people's champions were invited to that dinner. If the people did not observe it, it must have been because they were asleep.

WILMINGTON CONGRATULATES MR. WILSON

Wilmington Democrats rejoiced yesterday over the re-nomination of President Woodrow Wilson and Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall, an event altogether expected but nevertheless a source of great gratification among all who had associated those two distinguished Democrats together as the typical heads of the dominant party.

President Wilson spent his boyhood days in Wilmington, when his eminent father, Dr. Joseph R. Wilson, was pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and some of the personal friends of the President were thoughtful enough yesterday to wire him their congratulations. However, Mayor Parker Quince Moore spoke for Wilmington when he sent this telegraphic message to the President: "The people of Wilmington, the home of your boyhood, congratules the Nation upon your re-nomination." That is the way Wilmington feels about it, too, for the honor is all the Nation's. That brief telegram also but voices the sentiment of North Carolina, for no Democratic President and no Democrat of eminence was ever so universally popular in the Tar Heel State as the greatly honored Democratic President who has made his impress upon the Nation for all time.

It is President Wilson's achievements that rank him as a great American, for the plainly demonstrated and clearly comprehensive constructiveness of his administration will live in history. A mere editorial cannot so comprehensively emphasize that as was done in the great speeches delivered at the St. Louis convention by the Hon. Martin H. Glynn, of New York; the Hon. John W. Wescott, of New Jersey; Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, and the Hon. William J. Bryan, of Nebraska. In those speeches, singly and altogether, we find the spirit and soul and record of the Democracy under the masterful leadership of Woodrow Wilson, personally known by many of us as school boy, college youth, school teacher and university president, later to become a great American President during the most historic period of this Republic's relations with the nations of all the continents of the world.

It is for his own America and his own people that he has done the most. Through his great ability and the strength and statesmanship of his party associates at the seat of the American government, he has given the people the only financial system that has ever adequately met the requirements of this country. It is the only system that has ever been completely within the hands of the people, and yet it is only one of the powerful measures that guarantee greater oportunity for the American people. It really is impossible to reiterate them here, after that has been done with so much brilliancy, eloquence and power in the historic speeches made before the imposing Democratic convention at St. Louis. It remained for the earnest and eloquent Colonel Bryan to declare what all Americans should realize to be one of the profoundest of truths:

"My friends, I believe there is now before this country an opportunity such as no other country has ever had since the beginning of time. I believe that God, in His providence, has reserved for the United States the honor and the task of lifting the moral code that governs individuals up to the level of nations and making it a part of the code of all nations."

The people surely ought to rise up and call Wilson and Democracy blessed. The record is emblazoned in achievement and nothing can blot it out. Even defeat in November would not rob it of its place in history, but the American people should be grateful enough to see that Wilson and his constructive party shall triumph for the good of the country at the November election.

POLICIES SEEN AND UNSEEN

Says the Winston Republican:

"The Daily Sentinel of this city wants to know what the Republicans favor regarding Mexico. After March, 1917, their policy will be declared in no uncertain language. If the Democrats have ever had a Mexican policy will the Sentinel please print what it was?"

Tut! Tut! The Republican accuses the Sentinel of not knowing the Wilson policy as to Mexico, and yet the Republican absolutely neglects the opportunity to tell us what policy the Republicans propose in lieu of it. We are anxious to know it so we can vote intelligently as between the two policies. The Winston paper had a fine opportunity to tell us what policy the Republicans propose. They merely promise a policy—one yet to be discovered. However, it is not enough to declare that after March, 1917, if the Republicans carry the country, their policy will be "declared in no uncertain terms."

Name those terms now! Has it ever struck the Republicans that a policy to be declared next year to meet conditions then existing can have no comparative reference to a policy with which it was hoped to meet revolutionary conditions in Mexico for the past several years? We wish somebody would rise and tell us what the conditions in Mexico will be in 1917, and how Solomon himself could adopt a policy to meet unknown conditions and even unforeseen eventualities.

The Republicans don't know any more than the man in the moon what the Republican policy will be next year. Neither could they tell us the result of whatever policy they may adopt. How could they know whether the result will be the pacific reconstruction of Mexico or a bloody war with a country that has steadily drifted toward anarchy? The Republicans had better call on Elijah, Samuel and the other prophets to let them know now what their policy is to be and how it is to come out in the end.

We can't even look back and guess what the Republican policy would have been during the past three years. We rather think it would have been intervention, with much more sacrifice of American lives than up to now, and yet nobody knows whether it would have made conditions any better for Mexico or for America. Except by way of guessing, we cannot even compare the wisdom of intervention as against "watchful waiting." We do know that Austria tried intervention with horrible results and that intervention is not what it is cracked up to be.

"Watchful waiting" may turn out in about the same way in the end, but how can we or the Republicans say whether it were worse than intervention would have been under a Republican administration? However, the Taft administration had the first whack at the pacification of Mexico, but its policy was hands-off because of the fact that this country's fundamental policy has been not to interfere with the affairs of another country.

Both Taft and Wilson awaited developments in Mexico and adhere to the traditional and sovereign principle that no country has a right to interfere with another and set up a government without the consent of the governed. We deny the right of other countries to do that in the United States and we cerainly would not usurp for ourselves the privilege of dictating to sovereign neighbors. Of course, we can hold them to account for violation of our international rights, but we would have to decide for ourselves whether the best results could be secured by war or statesmanship and diplomacy—by intervention or watchful waiting.

Men who vote ought to suspend judgment on the Wilson policy of "watchful waiting" as against some unknown policy that the Republicans might adopt in 1917. We rather think they will count the cost and do a little watchful waiting themselves for fear that they might play the devil. We doubt whether there is a Democrat or Republican in America who could speak assuredly of the final results of the present policy or of a future policy that has not even been definitely outlined.

Anyhow, the Republicans have placed nothing before the house and won't and can't do so till 1917, because they don't know any more about their future policy than they know about what world conditions will be in 1917. The fact is, they are up in the air and are liable to stay up there till they are face to face with a condition and not the mere theory that is rattling around in their beans.

That is precisely the reason that they have left it an open question till 1917, when they hope to have a chance to adopt a policy of some kind or other—the devil knows what. We know this is the truth; they know it, too.

THE PACKING HOUSE IS GOING TO CINCH IT.

Packing house plants are pressing close on the heels of the South's growing livestock industry. In fact, the increased attention to cattle and hog raising has made the packing house a necessity, while packing house plants at advantageous distribution points are going to cinch the livestock industry. Packing houses offer a home market for beef catle, hogs and sheep, and are destined to be the mainstay of the livestock industry on the more potential farms of the South.

Not only do home investors realize that there is a new opportunity for capital in local packing houses, but the great packing house corporations are seeing this Southern opportunity themselves. Only a few days ago The Star mentioned that the Armour interests had decided to establish a meat packing plant at Jacksonville, Fla. At Tampa, Fla., local capital took immediate hold of a packing plant for that city. They organized the Florida Packing & Provision Company, with a capital stock of $100,000. The company has now called for bids for the buildings and equipment and it is expected that the plant will be ready for operation by fall. The main building will be 75x140 feet and will consist of a basement and three stories. It will be constructed of re-inforced concrete and steel and will be fireproof from bottom to top. The annual slaughtering capacity will be 30,000 each of cattle and hogs. A site of seven acres of land for buildings and stockyards has been secured, and the stockholders propose to put the enterprise through with a rush.

Augusta, Ga., also has organized and chartered the Georgia-Carolina Packing Company with a tentative cpital stock of $150,000, of which $100,000 will be used to equip the plant and $50,000 be kept on hand as working capital. Business men and farmers in thirty counties in Georgia and South Carolina are endorsing the proposition with a rush.

A correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle thinks the capital stock of the Augusta enterprise should be larger, and he urges that The Star's suggestion for organizing livestock associations be adopted at once to make it possible for the farmers to secure blooded food stock animals at the lowest possible prices. In that way the packing house industry can be readily sustained, and it will not be long till a new era for Southern farms shall have dawned in a striking particular.

In view of the fact that the Mexicans have everything to lose and nothing to gain, they are fools to invite war with this country. Mexico would have to pay for the war and the pay would be the richest territory on the American continent. There is a pretty sentiment about respecting the territorial integrity of Mexico, but war would utterly destroy whatever of that kind of sentiment now prevails among Americans. Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

CURRENT COMMENT

For some reason none of us has been able to get much excited over the row between the railroads and their operatives; but it looks to be even money that it will involve the country in the worst mess of the sort in history all the same.—Greensboro News.

Mr. Hughes will not be elected. His defeat is to be desired, among many other reasons, for this good and sufficient reason, that the invasion of the Supreme Court's chamber by needy politicians in search of a leader, now for the first time in American history successfully accomplished, may be rebuked and made a precedent too dangerous for following. The ermine that we have been taught to believe should touch nothing less spotless than itself must not be donned for a few seasons' wear to be stripped off by a reckless party convention forcing its wearer into the dust and turmoil of the political arena. The Republicans have assailed the purity of that great bench. They have put the justices who sit there under the almost irresistible temptation to turn their minds aside from the questions that alone concern them, to let their thoughts wander to fields of contention where they should have no part. It is disturbing and a menace to that judicial calm and impartiality, which should prevail in that chamber and to which by the acceptance of appointment justices of the Supreme Court should devote their minds and their lives.—New York Times.

Candidate Hughes has cut out a large-sized job for himself. In his speech of acceptance he has generally criticised practically all of the different policies of the Wilson administration. This makes it necessary for him in subsequent utterances to particularize and state wherein he, in given circumstances, would have acted differently and also wherein such a differing course would have produced more advantageous results than those which followed the Wilson policies. For instance Mr. Hughes romps around considerably on the tariff policy of the Democrats. But there is no evidence that public sentiment in the country at large is dissatisfied with the tariff schedules enacted by the Democrats. The dominant party has amended the tariff so that it will be as nearly as possible fair to the great masses of the people rather than to be administered in the interest of the few. If such a policy had damaged business and industry and thrown great numbers of people out of employment there might be reason for supposing that the people would rise up in their might and place in power a political party that would put in effect a different tariff policy. But there have been no such results. Apparently satisfaction with the tariff schedules obtains to a large degree. Not only that, but the Democrats are asking a tariff commission, a body of experts who will give the tariff more careful thought and study than has ever before been done and whose existence will be a guarantee that the question will be handled to the best interests of the nation. The Democrats are not vulnerable in their tariff policy and the Republican candidate will find that this is true with respect to any part of the Democratic armor that he may assail.—Raleigh News and Observer.

WAR RELIEF CAMPAIGN CONTINUES

A Second Message to the Churches:

The response to the War Relief message of the Federal Council has been immediate and promising. The movement has received the warm approval of the constituent denominations of the council recently assembled.

Please bear in mind that this is a continuous campaign until all of our people have been reached, and so long as the suffering in Europe continues its appeal to us.

We earnestly offer the following suggestions:

1. Appoint a committee of your church to develop a continuous interest in the movement.

2. Consult with other pastors and laymen and secure the appointment of a community committee for continuous service.

3. Make special appeals in behalf of the suffering children of Europe to the Sunday school children, the young people, and the day school children.

4. Organize interest through other groups and organizations in the church and in the community.

5. Give one immediate special Sunday to a presentation of this great cause, unless you have already done so, and in this connection we would suggest Citizenship Sunday, July 2, as a suitable opportunity.

6. Interview people of means for substantial contributions.

Correspondence directly from Europe and through the war relief organizations indicates that the need of our brothers and sisters are constantly increasing, and we shall soon issue another statement both of these needs and of the response to the Federal Council message.

The original message, which has been found very effective in distribution may be obtained at the cost of printing ($5.00 per hundred), and we earnestly advise pastors and committees to distribute it in their various communities.

No united movement of the churches has met with more immediate sympathy and no movement would be more far-reaching in moral and spiritual influence than this united effort of our Christian churches to extend a hand of Christian love and sympathy to the peoples across the sea.

For the Federal Council,
SHAILER MATHEWS,
President.

Chairman of the Executive Committee.

ACTORS IN OLD DAYS.

They Sometimes Took Liberties With Shakespeare.

(Edwin Milton Royle, in Harper's Magazine.)

It would seem that Booth never had "a good company." Indeed, he was constantly accused of surrounding himself with indifferent actors in order to shine by contrast. I have heard him say that he always employed the best actors he could get, and it is ceratin that all the well known actors of his day appeared in his support at different times, but he never had a company that found much favor. My own explanation is that his great gifts drawfed even exceptional talents.

Every one is familiar with the lament for the good old actors of a better day. Well, we had some of them—the palmy daisies. One, a most likable chap, whom I shall call Brown, was quite without pose and made no pretense of taking his art too seriously. I believe he had been a bricklayer, and so he was cast for all the kinds. He played the King of France in "Lear," and so always left the theatre early. He once said to me: "Ed, how does the darned old play end, anyway?" Brown also played King Louis in "Richelieu." Perhaps he was cast for these royal personages because he walked and talked in a most uncommon way. No one could accuse him of "crooking the pregnant hinges of the knee" for any purpose whatsoever. He did not walk; he stalked. One night in Salt Lake City we had a drunken man in the gallery who was sinclined to be both talkative and critical. You may remember the scene where the king turns from Julie and says, "Speak to her, Baradas, I am not marble." Our inebriated critic leaned well forward, and in a voice audible to everyone in the theatre murmured: "Marble! No, darn you, you're wood."

Thompson, Iowa, has a population of but 431, but it has a 24-hour electric service all its own. The plant is practically automatic in operation.

HEALTH IS WEALTH

by John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

Were a young man to write down a list of his duties, health should be among the first items in the catalogue.—H. MANN.

The Life and Property-Destroying Rodent.

WERE it not for the natural law of the survival of the fittest, and that equally cruel but salutary law by which living things are constantly preying on one another, the rat would within a few years make the globe absolutely uninhabitable for mankind. One rat pair, breeding without check or life losses, would begin their fourth year with a progeny, to the eleventh generation, exceeding one hundred millions. As it is, the rat population is said to number up, year in and year out, about equal with the human population throughout civilization.

The roof, or Egyptian rat, infests mostly shipping; and is more common along our coast, especially in the South. And this it is which is almost entirely responsible for the spread of bubonic plague from port to port; in its pelt it harbors the flea, which is the carrier of the plague bacillus. And the rat has carried this flea to that other rodent, the ground squirrel. The brown rat is the inland pest, destroying more property than all other noxious animals combined. If for each cow, horse, sheep and hog on the farms of the United States our farmers support one rat on grain alone the toll levied by these rodents would reach one hundred millions of dollars the year. The Department of Agriculture, at Washington, recommends, in Bulletin 369, these measures for destroying rats:

Protection of those natural rodent enemies, the hawk, owl and other predatory mammals. Greater cleanliness about stables, markets, grocery stores, warehouses, courts, alleys and vacant lots in cities and villages. The storage of waste and garbage in tightly covered vessels, and prompt daily removal. Care in the construction of buildings and drains so as not to provide entrance and retreat for rats. The permanent closing of all rat holes in all old houses and cellars. The early thrashing and marketing of grains on farms, so that stacks and mows shall not furnish rat harborage and commissariat. Removal, to the same end, of outlying straw stacks and trash piles. Keep effective rat dogs, especially on farms and in city warehouses. Systematically destroy rats whenever and wherever found by trapping, ferrets, fumigation, poisoning, organized hunt; join rat clubs for the latter end. Barium carbonate and strychnine are useful poisons. In fumigation a wad of cotton saturated with carbon disulphide is pushed into the burrow and the opening closed with soil to prevent the escape of gas. This method is, of course, not available in dwellings. Human life has been lost through using preparations containing hydrocyanic acid gas.

REMOVAL OF HAIRS.

J. S.: I am troubled with a heavy growth of superfluous hair on my face. I have tried a few of the advertised hair removers, but they have done me no good. I was advised to have the hair removed by the electric needle, but am afraid to undergo the treatment.

Answer: When the operator is really expert the use of electric needle, "electrolysis," is the best way and the least dangerous, unless there are very many hairs to be removed. About twenty hairs are removed at a sitting; the pain is by no means unendurable.

NOSE BLEED.

M. R.: I am 18 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall; two years ago I weighed 135 pounds. I went to work in a silk factory. During the past winter I lost weight at this work. There is a lot of cotton dust which at times fills my nose and throat. Recently my nose has been bleeding very often, sometimes for 15 minutes at a time.

Answer: Your former weight was some ten pounds above the ordinary; so you could lose that much without it meaning anything. And yet there is a frequent relation between dust, nosebleed and some lung, heart, liver or kidney troubles.

It would certainly be the part of widom for you to be thoroughly examined by a good family doctor.

SLEEPLESSNESS.

Answer to A. Y.: Sleeplessness in a child indicates either faulty dieting or some disease coming on; this and disturbed sleep invariably call for correction and medical attention.

PERSEVERANCE IS REWARDED

Mr. George Rogers, of Seagate, Finds Purse Containing $128 Which Was Lost in Field.

Perseverance was strikingly rewarded Thursday afternoon in the case of Mr. George Rogers, of Seagate, who, after a seemingly fruitless search of more than a week over a ploughed field of five acres in which he had lost from his hip pocket a roll of greenbacks amounting to $128 in cash and certified checks, recovered the money just as he was about to abandon the search. Naturally he was overjoyed and will always have an abiding faith in the old proverb that "perseverance wins." While Mr. Rogers had devoted much time to look for the money, it fell to the lot of his wife to finally locate it, which she did on Thursday afternoon.

One day last week as Mr. Rogers left his store and the postoffice at Seagate, expecting to do some ploughing in a field nearby and then later come to town and liquidate some obligations, he rolled the money and checks up in a roll and stuffed them in his hip pocket. He had completed ploughing over about four acres of the tract when he discovered that the roll had worked out of his pocket as he ploughed over the field and it could be found nowhere. He knew that the money had been lost somewhere in that field and so he determined to have it if it was to be had.

He accordingly employed all the light labor in the community that he could enlist, armed the laborers with hoes, rakes, etc., and told them to rake or hoe every foot of ploughed earth in the tract. The stage was large and they worked industriously, Mr. Rogers or some members of his family being always on hand in case a lucky discovery should be made. All hands worked with a will. Meantime it had rained several times and hope of finding the money began to be abandoned.

Mr. Rogers, however, was undaunted and late Thursday afternoon when it seemed that every foot of the land had been raked and scraped and then raked and scraped over again, with a "fine toothed comb" so to speak, there was one little corner of the field that seemed not to have been attended to as well as the main tract. He gave direction as a finel effort, to have that raked over again and lo and behold there was his money carefully rolled up just as it had been dropped from his pocket.

It is needless to say that in future Mr. Rogers will always remember his experience of 1916 when he stuffs money away in his pockets again and then goes to ploughing.

EMMETT BELLAMY DELIVERED ADDRESS AT CLOSING SERMON

Of Independent Order of Colored Women at Shiloh Church Last Night.

The chief address at the closing session of the Independent Order of J. R. Giddings and Jolliffe Union, which has been in session since Tuesday, June 13, was delivered last night to more than 1,500 delegates and others at the Shiloh Baptist church by Emmett Bellamy Esq., who spoke in place of his father Hon. John D. Bellamy. Mr. Bellamy's subject was "Colored Womanhood, the Uplift of the Negro Race."

In the course of his address, Mr. Bellamy paid a tribute to the work of this benevolent order which was organized ten years ago by its present superintendent, Victoria Lofton. During the past year $10,004 has been raised, of which sum, $8,000 was paid out in insurance benefits. Before adjournment which took place at the close of the session last night, the newly-elected officers were installed, most of whom including Superintendent Lofton were re-elected.

An attractive musical programme was carried out, which included selections by a special choir and a solo by Dr. Davenport.

Cargo of Piling From Norfolk.

The tug Carolina arrived yesterday morning at Southport from Norfolk towing the barge Niagara with a cargo of creosote piling, which will be used in making repairs at the United States quarantine station, located in the Cape Fear river near Southport. Contract for the repair work, which will cost about $22,000, was let some time ago. The Carolina, just as she was about to dock at Southport, became disabled by her propeller working loose and was towed up to Wilmington later in the day where repairs will be made at the marine railway across the river.

TO APPLY FOR COMMUTATION

Attorneys for Melvin Horne Will Ask Governor Craig to Change Sentence to Life Imprisonment.

Governor Locke Craig will be asked to commute the sentence of Melvin Horne, convicted for the second time at the May term of New Hanover Superior Court of the murder of Mr. D. L. T. Capps, to life imprisonment, according to a notice which has been published in the local papers by his attorneys, Cyrus D. Hogue and K. O. Burgwin, Esqs. Horne is now under sentence to be electrocuted the latter part of July and is in the State prison in Raleigh, whither he was removed shortly after his conviction the last time.

At the time of his conviction in May, his attorneys served notice of appeal to the Supreme Court for a new trial but their client absolutely refused to sign the necessary affidavit. It was understood at that time that they would attempt either to secure a new trial through other channels or more probably ask for a commutation to life imprisonment.

The notice issued by Horne's attorneys is in the usual form, setting forth that application will be made for commutation of the sentence and inviting all persons who oppose the commutation to forward their protests to Governor Craig without delay. At the time of the last conviction of Horne it was stated that in all probability several members of the jury which sat in the case would join in asking for a commutation of the sentence.

The attorneys for Horne in both of his trials in New Hanover relied on insanity as a defense for their client, maintaining that Horne was suffering with paranoia, a form of disease in which systematized delusions appear.

VOTERS ASKED TO EXPLAIN

City Board of Elections Still in Quandary as to Results of Recent Election on Improvements.

The completion of the checking up of the names on the registration books for the recent election on the question of making certain improvements with the tax books of the sheriff for the present year still leaves the Board of Elections somewhat in a quandary, even though it was found that 233 voters had registered and 146 others had voted, who apparently had not paid their poll tax by May 1st.

While this appears on its face to be the state of affairs, the members of the Board of Elections are by no means sure that many of these had not paid their poll tax as undoubtedly many of them had moved to the city since last year and in all probability paid their taxes elsewhere. With a view to having these voters give an explanation, letters were yesterday sent to 195 men in the city asking them to appear before the City Board of Elections on next Wednesday at noon and produce evidence that they were eligible to register and vote.

This action was taken following a meeting of the board yesterday at noon when the report of Messrs. G. W. Anderson and L. H. Partin, who checked over the registration books with the tax books under the direction of the board, was discussed. Those present at the meeting yesterday were Chairman C. W. Woodward, J. J. Loughlin, Esq., Maj. W. N. Harriss and Mr. W. E. Lawson. City Attorney Robert Ruark and Mr .G. W. Anderson were also present at the meeting.

In view of the fact that there was no way to determine definitely whether or not there were any voters, who had cast ballots illegally in the election, the board was unable to declare the results. Apparently there were enough votes cast for the fire and water improvements proposition and also for the factory sites proposition to carry them.

That there were some voters who cast ballots illegally in the election seems to be assured from information that the Board of Elections has secured. Indeed in one instance at least a voter sent a letter to the board admiting that he had unwittingly registered for the election without having paid his poll tax by May 1st.

The Board of Elections has no authority to prosecute anyone but is simply empowered to canvass the returns and determine the results. However, it would be within the province of the grand jury of the next Superior Court to go into this matter and this will no doubt be done.

Following is the text of the letter which is being sent to the voters and those registered about whom the Board of Elections has doubt as to their right to be registered or to cast a ballot:

"Dear Sir: According to the registration books used in the recent special city election when certain propositions were submitted to the voters of the city your name appears registered. You either voted by depositing your ballot, or, if you remained away from the polls, you are counted as having voted against these propositions since they are required to be carried by a majority of the registered vote. According to the records you failed to list your poll tax in New Hanover county for the year 1915, or if you listed it you failed to pay it on or before May 1 1916.

"Nothing else appearing, your registering as a voter in said election would be a misdemeanor. If you actually voted your doing so would be a felony.

"The City Board of Elections is engaged in investigating the returns to said election in an effort to determine correctly the result of the same. The board recognizes that a variety of circumstances may exist, which are not shown by the records available to it, and which might make you a qualified voter.

"The Board will sit at the Court House on Wednesday next, June 21, at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time and place you are invited to appear before the board for the purpose of giving information to enable the board to carry out its duty in ascertaining and declaring the result of said election.

"Respectfully,
"C. W. WOODWARD,
"Chairman, City Board of Elections."

DEFENDANT IS TAXED WITH COSTS ON ASSAULT CHARGE

June Has Been Unusually Dull Month For Recorder Empie.

At yesterday morning's session of the Recorder's court, C. H. Bush, charged with assault with deadly weapon, was taxed with the costs and judgment suspended, the charge being changed to simple assault.

H. Horowitz, a white woman, was found in the opinion of Recorder Empie to be of unsound mind and her case remanded to the Clerk of the Superior Court for final disposition. Clerk W. N. Harriss directed that she be sent to the county farm, until such a time as there is room for her at the State Hospital.

According to Capt. W. H. Northrop, clerk of the Recorder's court, June has been a very dull month. Very few cases of importance have been before the court, except those of the negroes who were held for Superior Court on the charge of entering the Shrier & Solomon store a few nights ago, and Herbert Graham and Tom Hall, both colored, who were sent t othe roads on various charges of larceny. Otherwise there have been very few offenders before the Recorder, and the charges against them were largely of a trival nature.

40 BOYS NOW AT CAMP PENTON

On Shore of Lake Waccamaw Enjoying Varied Attractions of Life in the Open—"The Splash" Out.

Including 23 members of the boys' division who were taken up Thursday by Mr. C. Walton Johnston, secretary of the division, there are now 40 happy youngsters enjoying the delights of Camp Penton on the shores of Lake Waccamaw, which is being conducted under the auspices of the Boys' Division of the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. Mr. Odis B. Hinnant is camp director.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the boys for a "Camp Show" which will be given at Lake Waccamaw station tonight. Next Friday, June 23, is "Visitors' Day." Parents and friends of the boys have been extended urgent invitations to be present on that occasion.

From a recent issue of "The Splash," the breezy news sheet which faithfully records some of the most stirring events of camp life, it is learned that it enjoys the largest circulation per number of papers printed in the United States; and that owing to the addition to the editorial staff of several brilliant writers, including Mr. Heman Shaw, editor-in-chief; and Mr. Ben Houston, sporting editor; it is expected that his paper which already has the largest circulation of any in Lake Waccamaw, will have to increase the size of its plant to supply the increased demand on the part of subscribers.

Among the Boy Scouts at the camp are troops from Wilmington, Masonboro and Southport. The first contingent consisting of more than a score of boys arrived at the camp on the opening date and they will remain until its close, July -, thus the last two weeks of their sojourn has already been entered upon.

The camp activities include hiking, swimming, boating and eating. Judging from the number of times the word "supper" occurs in the news items of "The Splash" this last-named is a very important feature of their activities.

MANY UNFASTENED DOORS ARE REPORTED BY POLICE

Business Men Are Prone to Be Forgetful as Days Get Hotter.

According to Capt. C. W. Woolard of the police department, Wilmington merchants and professional men are becoming more and more prone to forget to lock the doors of their business establishments and offices ,as the summer days get hotter and their eagerness to catch a car for the beach or the golf links increases.

This has been particularly so for the past week or more, and it is no unusual thing for a half a dozen such citizens in one night to be gotten "out of the hay" in the wee hours of the morning to be informed by a minion of the law that the door to their office or store is unlocked. If the forgetful ones have no telephones, the officers fasten the doors as best they can, and report the matter to the police station. Many professional men are in the habit of leaving their offices often during the day and when they leave late in the afternoon, they forget that they are going for the night and just pull the door to.

At the meeting Tuesday night J. J. Rackley was elected chairman of the club and C. H. Hanner, secretary. Various committees were appointed to have in hand the different departments of the organization.

Horse Sustains Accident.

His hind hoof and shoe caught in the fleshy party of the mouth, a horse belonging to the Union Wood Company was painfully injured yesterday while in a stall at the wood yard, Front and Wright streets. The unusual predicament of the animal was not discovered until several hours after the accident occurred, and as a result its neck and head were considerably swollen by the strain. It is believed that the horse must have caught the shoe of its hoof in its mouth while trying to scratch himself or get something out of its mouth. It is being treated by Dr. T. B. Carroll, veterinarian.

Wilmington retail merchants have been asked to co-operate in promoting the success of the convention of the North Carolina Good Roads Association here next week by calling attention to the meeting in their advertisements, by attractive window displays, and, if possible, by offering "Good Road Prices" on their merchandise.

The Rotary club has appointed a committee composed of Messrs. C. W. Polvogt, chairman; and D. C. Love and Will Rehder to secure the active co-operation of the merchants. This committee has sent out the following letter to the retail merchants of the city:

SOME 12 OF OTTERSTADTS CREW ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE

But Obey Orders of Deputy Reynolds to Return on Board.

About 12 or 15 members of the crew of the British staemer Otterstadt, which clears today for European ports, attempted to desert the ship about 8 o'clock Thursday night, according to Deputy Sheriff E. C. Reynolds, but upon the latter's insistence, they went back on board after a certain amount of argument. Deputy Reynolds had been placed on the ship to frustrate the proposed action of the Norwegian sailors, who, it is said, don't like the idea of returning to European waters.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Keen and former Deputy William Howe are maintaining guard at the ship today and were on watch last night. No further trouble is expected as the vessel sails today with its cargo from the Champion Compress for Euorape.

Easy Way to Get Rid of Itching

Don't worry any more about that itching skin-trouble. Just get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap at any drug store.

With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Choosing Your Shampoo Soap

If you select a soap that contains soothing, healing properties like the resinol balsams in resinol soap, you are not likely to have trouble with dandruff, loss of hair or itching scalp. Ideal for the youngsters' heads.

Both vessels are moored off the end of the Oceanic Hotel's pier, which will be the starting point for many an exciting cruise this summer. Captain Wells knows the "outside fishing grounds" like a book and rarely fails to have his parties come back with successful catches. Captain Wells, who is an inspector for the North Carolina Fisheries Commission, will have full charge of the fishing parties, boating, and the pier at the Oceanic Hotel this season.

The open air moving pictures at Lumina start tonight at 8:15 o'clock and will be shown every night except Sunday for the remainder of the season. There will be a change of programme every night. A splendid programme has been arranged for tonight. There will be a three-reel Vitagraph drama, "The Man Hunt Also," which will be followed by a Biograph comedy, "A Convenient Burglar." "The Boiler Maker's Day of Rest" will complete the programme. There is no charge for seeing the pictures and they are a delightful means of recreation for those visiting the pavilion.

Mr. W. W. Wood, an expert electrician and operator, who has been in charge of the open air moving pictures since their inauguration at Lumina, will again be in charge this year.

PUSH WORK ON AUDITORIUM

Two Thousand Orchestra Seats Arrived Yesterday—To Be Ready for the Good Roads Convention.

Two thousand orchestra seats of the most modern type arrived yesterday for the auditorium which the Tidewater Power Company is building on Harbor Island at Wrightsville Beach, there being two carloads of the lot, and the shipment will be unloaded today, the cars having been taken down yesterday afternoon. Mr. Joe Schad, the contractor, has a large force of hands at work on the building and expects to have it in readiness for the opening session of the North Carolina Good Roads Convention on Wednesday morning.

Handsomely printed souvenir programmes for the convention are being printed by the Wilmington Stamp & Printing Company, this city. These booklets are illustrated with views of scenes in New Hanover county and at the beach and will make very attractive souvenirs for the visitors. The frontispiece is done in colors.

The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has received a communication from Mr. J. C. Williams, of the Belk-Williams Company, of this city, forwarded from Sanford, stating that a report had been circulated to the effect that the meeting of the Good Roads Association, which meets at Wrightsville Beach, June 21 to 23, had been postponed. The source of this erroneous report is unknown. A correction has been sent by wire to Sanford by the Wilmington Highway Association, as there is no truth in the report that the convention has been postponed. The convention will be held on the dates announced.

At a recent meeting of the Buncombe County Good Roads Association the following delegates, among whom are included many of Asheville's leading citizens, were named by the president of the association to attend the convention of the State Association at Wrightsville Beach: Governor Locke Craig, F. Stikeleather, City Commissioner D. Hiden Ramsey, Dr. M. H. Fletcher, of the Hickory Nut Gap Highway Commission; James H. Caine, editor of the Asheville Citizen; Dr. C. P. Ambler, Frank S. Smith, H. W. Plummer, manager of the Asheville Electric Light & Power Company; U. S. Marshal Charles A. Webb, C. A. Raysor, W. B. Valentine and W. C. Carmichael.

Among the awards which have been offered in connection with the convention are two traffic signs offered by the Mhattews Interlocking Sign Company, J. Wilson Wood, sales manager, of Raleigh, N. C. These will be awarded to the city bringing the largest delegation to Wilmington.

To the county sending the largest delegation to the convention will be awarded six lengths of metallic culvert offered by the Newport Culvert Company, of Newport, Ky., J. H. Slaughter, agent, Lexington, N. C.

One of the big features of the convention will be the grand parade on Friday night, June 23. In this parade will be representatives of counties, cities, boards of trade, T. P. A. posts, etc. Any organization or institution in the State is invited to take part in the parade and to carry suitable banners, flags, etc., to illustrate their respective towns, counties or organizations. This will give an opportunity not only to advertise the good roads work but to advertise the resources of the counties and towns. All delegates are invited to take part in this parade.

HAS ASSUMED CHARGE OF DONALDSON MILITARY SCHOOL

Professor McFall, Has High Ambition for Fayetteville Institution.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, June 16.—With the announced intention of building up a military school that shall rank with the greatest preparatory schools of its kind, John Montieth McFall, of Atlanta, Ga., has assumed charge of Donaldson Military school, situated here, and in co-operation with Dr. Franklin S. Clark, president of the school corporation, will have complete charge of its activities. Col. McFall was one of the founders of Donaldson, leaving the headmastership of Peacock Military School in 1908 to come here, and his return to D. M. S. from the practice of law in Atlanta will be received with pleasure by friends of the school everywhere. Colonel McFall received his A B degree from the College of Charleston, the degree of master of arts from Columbia University, and the LL. B. degree from George Washington University. He was a famous athlete when in college. He resigned as principal of the school in 1912 to take up the study of law at George Washington, where he was first honor graduate and winner of the Larner medal and the Blackstone and American law prizes. "During his first year," says the Washington Post, "McFall won the Phi Delta Phi prize, and during the second year he was awarded the Ordronaux scholarship." During the past winter Colonel McFall has been associated with the law firm of Austin and Smith in Atlanta. "The psssibility of developing Donaldson into a great school is the inducement that bring him back to Fayetteville," said Dr. Clark.

"It is our plan," the president of the school continued, "to give a symmetrical training to our cadets and to offer every facility and advantage to be found in the best preparatory school, making Donaldson an institution with an equipment and atmosphere not unlike that of the modern college. We shall maintain the excellent academic standard of the school, but we shall also develop the physical and social side. This plan will be clearer," he added, "if you examine the complete records of McNeill at West Point, Broadfoot and McFall at Annapolis, Huske and Lilly at Chapel Hill, and Currie at Davidson. All these boys were trained by Colonel McFall, and it is our purpose to give similar development to our cadets in the future."

FOUR DAYS CHAUTAUQUA IS ENJOYED BY SOUTHPORT PEOPLE

Material for Quarantine Station Arrives—Tug Suffers Accident.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Southport, N. C., June 16.—Ending tonight, for four days and nights the people of this city have been enjoying a chautauqua, a series of addresses particularly pertinent at the present time, embodying civic and religious questions of moment, with a strong presentation of this country's National life in connection with the missionary spirit of its people.

The promoters of this season's chautauqua have been fortunate in securing such speakers as Dr. W. W. Pinson, of the Methodist church, a man of extensive experience, a profound reasoner and enjoyable speaker; the Rev. J. R. Matthews, of the Episcopal church, an eloquent and impressive speaker, these speakers occupying the stand during all the time of the series of addresses, until tonight, when the well-known Wilmingtonians, Revs. M. T. Plyler and W. E. Cox, were the speakers.

The material for the United States quarantine station, 400,000 feet of creosoted timber and about 300 creosoted pilings, from Norfolk, arrived here last night by barge, and is being unloaded today.

The tug Carolina, with Standard Oil barges, arrived here last evening. The tug nearly dropped her propeller, so that it was necessary to go to Wilmington to have it reset, the tug Gladiator towing the Carolina up the river.

FAYETTEVILLE HOLDS MEETING FOR RELIEF OF SYRIANS.

People Move for Alleviation of Sufferings on Mt. Lebanon.

Fayetteville, N. C., June 16.—At the first Syrian relief meeting to be held here, resolutions expressing sympathy for the war sufferers in Syria and recommending their cause to the people of Fayetteville and all American cities were passed by Fayetteville citizens Wednesday night and a relief committee named to canvass the city for contributions to be used in the purchase of food supplies for the starving inhabitants of Mount Lebanon. R. G. Saleeby, of Clio, S. C., a native of the Mount Lebanon district of the Turkish Empire, spoke eloquently in behalf of his people who are suffering the worst privations of war. Mr. Saleeby said that calamity had manifested itself in Mount Lebanon more than in any other part of Turkey because the government had commandeered supplies in the Christian communities more readily than in the districts where the Mohammedans predominate. "The outside world," he said, "has not known much of these conditions, as it did in the case of Belgium, Poland, Serbia, and other countries, because what little communication facilities we have in our country were cut off and severely condemned by the censorship." Mr. Saleeby is giving his time to this work, in co-operation with the Syrian Relief Committee, of New York, and his address here was the first that he has made. He was introduced by Q. K. Nimocks.

How Presidents Were Nominated Before Conventions Were Invented--Baltimore the Favorite Convention City of the Early Days.

Copyright, 1916, by The International Syndicate.

OUR National Conventions for the nomination of Presidential candidates are to a certain extent an evolution. In the early days of our history, under the Constitution, candidates were selected by the prominent men of the respective parties through caucuses at which there were also delegates or representatives from the rank and file of the parties. These nominations were, as a rule, made by the members of the National Congress in a custom which may account for the fact that Baltimore was the city where most of the candidates were named.

During the first three campaigns after the Constitution was adopted there were neither conventions, nominations nor platforms. Then, beginning in 1800, seven elections followed in which there were no conventions or platforms. The nominations were made in a very informal fashion by caucus of Congressional representatives of each party. Under this system King Caucus grew up, the party nominated its candidates, made its policy and was the whole organization. The people back home grew restless under the system. They noted that a little group of Virginia aristocracy managed to control the Presidency most of the time, electing Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe, only letting the office of Chief Executive get away from Virginia once during thirty-two years, at which time John Adams served as Chief Magistrate. The caucus mode of nominating was regarded as unsatisfactory and hardly in accord with the spirit of our institutions, and the people took a step toward popularizing the election and as a result they invented the National Convention.

First National Convention

In 1831 the first National Convention was held at Baltimore. This was known as the Anti-Masonic Convention—a movement against Freemasonry which began in 1826. The Convention was held at the Athenaeum. This was in September, and three months later the National Republican Convention convened in the same building and nominated Henry Clay for President. The party had no platform.

The National Democratic Convention met at the Athenaeum in May, 1832, when Andrew Jackson was selected as the Moses of the party. It was at this Convention that the rule was adopted by the Democratic party that to nominate a candidate two-thirds of the Convention must support him. This was the beginning of the two-thirds rule which has governed all subsequent Democratic Conventions in making nominations. Jackson was elected, and when the Convention of 1836 came on he dictated the nomination of the former Vice-President Martin Van Buren, who won at the election. There was no real platform adopted but a declaration of the things the party stood for as accepted by the New York Democrats was read to the Convention. This Convention was held in the First Presbyterian church, Baltimore. The Athenaeum was burned shortly before this time.

Maryland Institute

In 1840 Baltimore was again chosen as the Convention City, meeting this time at Maryland Institute, which had been erected to take the place of the Athenaeum. Van Buren was renominated without opposition. There was no nominee for the office of Vice-President. A platform made its appearance—not a very lengthy one, but one strictly to the point. In the meantime the Whig Convention was held at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, when William Henry Harrison was nominated as the standard-bearer. Harrison was elected, with John Tyler as Vice-President.

In 1844 James K. Polk was the dark horse, being selected on the ninth ballot amid scenes of wild excitement. This Convention was held at Calvert Hall in Baltimore. The Whig Convention, too, of that year convened in the Monumental City, meeting at the Universalist church, on Calvert street. Every State in the Union was represented at this meeting by a full delegation, and Henry Clay was nominated by acclamation.

The campaign was bitter in many respects, but Polk won and the Whigs began to understand that Henry Clay was not acceptable to the people.

In 1848 the Democratic platform had lengthened into a voluminous document. The Convention went into session at Maryland Institute, Baltimore, on May 22, 1848, when several days were spent in perfecting the organization. It was this Convention that directed the appointment of the first National Committee ever organized. Lewis Cass was nominated for President, but he went to defeat at the hands of Zachary Taylor, a hero of the Mexican War, who had received his nomination at the Whig Convention held in Philadelphia. The Whigs adopted no platform at their Convention, but they put forth a lengthy one at their ratification meeting in Philadelphia, held immediately after the Convention and attended by most of the delegates.

Baltimore in 1852 was again the Convention City, when Franklin Pierce became the nominee after forty-nine ballots had been taken. The meeting was in session five full days, with several night sessions—the beginning of the fashion of holding night sessions.

A week or two later the Whigs met in the same building and fifty-three ballots had to be taken before Winfield Scott was chosen.

Cincinnati First Western City Honored

James Buchanan was nominated in Cincinnati, the first Western city to be honored as a Convention City. Seventeen ballots were necessary for the choice. The platform was long and the Convention covered several days. The Whigs were now known as the Republicans, and they met at Philadelphia. This was the first National Republican Convention held. The delegates were not chosen by any settled rule. John C. Fremont was nominated informally on the first ballot. There was a lengthy platform setting forth the virtues and aims of the party but somehow it failed to impress the voters. The American (Know Nothing) party also had a candidate in the field, but the Democrats won out with James Buchanan, who was regarded by the public at large as a peerless statesman.

In 1860 the Democratic National Convention met in Charleston, South Carolina, and after being in session for ten days and having taken fifty-seven ballots without being able to make a nomination they adjourned and met in Baltimore at the First Presbyterian church on June 18th. Three days were occupied in the preliminary organization and as soon as this was completed many of the Southern delegates withdrew. Stephen A. Douglas was nominated on the second ballot. The platform for that year showed that the Democrats believed in reaching out as they favored the acquisition of Cuba. The party was split and the bolters held a Convention of their own at the same time and nominated John C. Breckinridge for President. The split in the Democratic party was complete and both

Lincoln Nominated at Wigwam

A few days later the Republican National Convention was held in Chicago in a building known as the "Wigwam," where Abraham Lincoln was nominated by the quick changing of four votes from Ohio when one delegation after another changed in his favor until three hundred and fifty-four votes were recorded for him.

In 1864 he was renominated in old Front Street theatre at Baltimore. The nomination was unanimous on the first ballot. There was a long platform and much enthusiasm prevailed when it was read. The Democrats held their Convention in Chicago and nominated George B. McClellan as their standard-bearer. Their platform was not as long as usual and strictly to the point, no words being wasted in the usual platitudes. The Radical Republican party met in convention at Cleveland and chose General John C. Fremont as their choice for President. Lincoln, however, won out at the election.

In 1868 the Democrats met at Tammany Hall, New York City, the Convention lasting an entire week. After twenty-one unsuccessful ballots a stampede began on the twenty-second ballot for Horatio Seymour, and when the ballot was announced it was found to be unanimous for him. The Republicans met at Chicago and in perfect harmony chose General U. S. Grant as their candidate. The war record of General Grant and his extreme popularity with the people brought about his election.

In 1872 the scene of the Democratic Convention was again set in Baltimore—this time at Ford's Opera House. Horace Greely became the nominee on the first ballot.

A few weeks before the Republican party had convened at Philadelphia and had renominated General Grant.

About this time the Labor question began to creep into our political life and the Labor Reform party held a Convention at Columbus, Ohio, and put a Labor candidate in the field.

Prohibition Makes Its Bow

Prohibition, too, made its bow as a national political movement, and the party met in convention at Columbus, Ohio, and nominated James Black.

The Democratic Convention of 1876 met at St. Louis, nominating Samuel J. Tilden. Only two ballots were required, the greatest fight being on the platform, which was exceedingly lengthy. A Greenback party had come into existence and they held a Convention at Indianapolis, honoring Peter Cooper with the nomination for Chief Executive. The Republicans met that year in Cincinnati, nominating Rutherford B. Hays, who was the successful candidate.

Again in 1880 the Democrats at their Convention held at Cincinnati selected a war hero as their candidate, General Winfield S. Hancock being nominated on the second ballot. Chicago captured the Republican Convention for that year and pitted another war hero, James A. Garfield, against Hancock after thirty-six ballots were bitter against each other. Garfield became the Chief Magistrate, being elected by a large majority.

At the Democratic Convention of 1884, held in Chicago, Grover Cleveland was chosen despite the opposition of Tammany. Shortly before the nomination of Cleveland the Republicans had met in the Windy City and selected James G. Blaine. At this Convention an important rule was adopted excluding all officeholders as members of the National Committee and for allowing more freedom in the selection of delegates to future Conventions.

Woman's Rights

During this year there was a split in the Prohibition party and they held two Conventions, one at Chicago and the other at Pittsburgh, putting two nominees in the field. Women's Rights also bobbed up, and this party held a National Convention at San Francisco, nominating Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood for President. Grover Cleveland became President.

The doings of the later Conventions are so recent and so well known that they do not need repetition here.

Baltimore leads as to the number of National Conventions, having seventeen to her honor. Chicago has had twelve. St. Louis comes next with five. Other cities honored by one or more are Harrisburg, Columbus, Indianapolis, New York, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Minneapolis and Kansas City.

THEATRICAL

"The most sensational drama ever produced," is what J. Stuart Blackton, of the Vitagraph Company, says of "The Hunted Woman," today's great Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature at the Royal Theatre.

"The Hunted Woman," in six great soul-stirring acts, stars in the leading roles, Miss Virginia Pearson, one of filmdom's most beautiful and accomplished dramatic emotional artistes, with S. Rankin Drew playing opposite her a strong dramatic figure.

"The Hunted Woman" also has a notable supporting cast, including Ned Finley, Frank Currier, George Cooper, Denton Vane and Mae Greene, all of whom enact substantial and strong roles in their various parts. "The Hunted Woman" is one of the very greatest stories from the pen of that popular modern-day writer, James Oliver Curwood. Many thrills may be expected in this stirring story of love, lust and revenge. One of the biggest is a tremendous landslide, another is a terrific explosion scene which entombs Drew and Denton Vane in a cave. In another part two of the players fall from a fifty-foot cliff into the icy waters of a mountain stream.

Notwithstanding the fact that a great majority will undoubtedly vote this one of the very greatest pictures of the Comedy Scream at Grand.

Another great Triangle-Keystone comedy scream at the Grand today—a two-reeler, "Fatty's Fickle Fall," starring that inimitable and old reliable Keystone player, Roscoe (better known as "Fatty") Arbuckle, with an all-star lineup of Keystone players.

"Fatty's Fickle Fall" is one of the very best Keystone Triangle productions yet. It's one in the same class with "Dizzy Heights and Daring Hearts," one of the very best that have yet been made, a story of swift and thrilling adventure all the way through.

You will see everything from the sight of a monumentally fat man frantically unwinding an uncooked beefsteak from his neck, where it reposed like a pearl lecklace or a new kind of life preserver, down to a big bunch of shapely young ladies disporting themselves on the beach with Fatty in their midst. The situations and scenes are largely aquatic, and some of the most marvelous comedy situations you have ever seen have been developed.

There will be other big features on today's bill, a great all-star four-reel comedy bill, good alike for young and old.

Billie Ritchie at Bijou.

Dear Old Billie Ritchie, he of the funny feet and the ridiculous canter, is at the Bijou today, playing a return engagement in one of the very greatest L-Ko comedy screams he ever starred in, "Vendetta In a Hospital" in which he is co-starred with Henry Bergman, Louise Orth, and a big bunch of the L-Ko nuts. Those who saw this picture when first presented at the Bijou will remember that it was one of the very greatest that was ever filmed, and kept the house, in one continual roar from beginning to end. Those who failed to see it will certainly embrace this last opportunity of seeing one of the very greatest comedy creations of all-time.

"Vendetta in a Hospital" is in two screaming reels, and you'll simply be writhing on the floor before the first reel is half over. Then you'll do it all over again in the second reel—for it's one of those that simply can't be beat.

There's a great three-reel feature also on today's bill, Ben Wilson and pretty Dorothy Phillips in a great Rex dramatic feature. "The Gentle Volunteer" three rousing reels of human interest dramatic situations that will appeal to everyone. The biggest bill in town for the money—and it's absolutely an all-star lineup. So don't miss the Bijou today, whatever else you miss!

SECOND PRIMARY IN WAKE

To Complete Legislative Ticket—Maxton Man Under Fire of Graham —Charters.

Raleigh, N. C., June 16. — It develops that there is to be a second legislative primary in Wake county, between B. H. Pate, representing the Jones wing of the Democratic party, and K. B. Johnson, representing the Bailey wing. First Pate was announced elected and then came announcement by the county canvassing board that Johnson had won. Now the county board of elections, backed by the State Board of Elections, holds that the nomination must be on the minimum basis of one-half of one-third, plus one vote, and Johnson lacked 65 votes of getting this vote.

Major W. A. Graham, Commissioner of Agriculture, has taken legal steps against V. B. Sharpe, of Maxton, who has advertised all the spring and summer 1,000 tons of guaranteed cotton seed meal. The case the commissioner has against Sharpe is one in which check was sent for $32.50 for a ton of meal and it was returned with statement that the price had advanced to $33. The check for the latter amount was sent April 12 and duly collected through the banks, but no shipment of cotton seed meal has come to hand nor any reply to insistent letters of inquiry.

More Indigo Seed.

Five additional pounds of indigo seed have just been received by Commissioner of Agriculture Graham from government sources, and the commissioner wants it understood that he will supply any applicants. He has destroyed the list of applicants he got in during the spring, thinking that there would be no more seed. So any citizens desiring seeds must apply to him anew.

Two new corporations were chartered today, both from Charlotte. They follow:

The E. H. Clement Co., of Charlotte, capital $25,000 authorized and $7,000 subscribed by E. H. Clement, W. A. Johnson, A. R. Schofield, the latter of Great Falls, S. C. The company is to do a general contracting business.

The Foreman Howard Motor Co. Charlotte, capital $100,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed by W. R. Foreman, L. J. Howard and J. D. Stratford, for a general automobile and garage business.

Expense of Primaries.

Chairman Wilson G. Lamb, of State Board of Elections, has figured out and will soon make public a statement showing the gross and net expenses incurred by the State in the first and second State-wide primaries the work of which he and his associates on the committee are just winding up. It had been estimated that cost to the State would be $15.000. However, it develops that the State board really got through their work with a net expense of about $8,000. This is after deducting the fees paid in by the candidates. The expense to the various counties, of course, is not included in these figures.

Poultry Progress and Profit.

The tremendous strides in the interest in and development of the poultry industry in North Carolina is indicated by the fact that at the A. & M. College the past school year there was an increase of 62 per cent. in the number of classes studying poultry; 245 per cent. in the number of students and 795 per cent. in the student hours for the year. This is in connection with a four year course in the study of poultry raising. The past year there were 13 classes with a total of 229 students who devoted 8,412 hours to the study of this subject. The authorities say that from all sections of the State come reports of successful experience in poultry raising where the modern principles and methods worked out and taught on the college experiment farm are adequately applied. The division has important literature on poultry that is available for any citizen who will send request through the mails.

Tar Heels at Training Camp.

There will be twenty young men from North Carolina to participate in the military training camp now in progress at Plattsburg and to continue to October 5. They include the following: Donald Ray, Fayetteville; A. L. Ockerblad, Lenoir; Frank L. and Robert M. Williams, Wilmington; Maurice H. Lindsay and Hermon C. Wilson, Asheville; Thomas T. Dawson, Ayden; Clyde R. Jordan, Currie; James R. Patton, Jr and Sidney S. Alderman, Durham; George H. Maurice, Eagle Springs; Terry Lyon and Albert Slocombe, Jr., Fayetteville; Benjamin Cone, Greensboro; W. A. Hunt, Henderson; Frank G. Everett, Maxton; Francis A. Cox, Raleigh; Marcus H. Dall, Samarcand; Walker Taylor, Jr. Wilmington.

A letter to Governor Craig from members of the family of Judge Charles M. Cook, Louisburg, is to the effect that the judge is again confined at his home by sickness and that it will be necessary to provide for the holding of Judge Cook's courts for a few weeks. Judge Lane will probably be assigned to relieve Judge Cook for a few weeks.

ROCKINGHAM WOMAN KILLED

Mrs. Belle Phillips Loses Her Life at Railroad Crossing.

Rock Hill, S. C., June 16.—Mrs. Belle Phillips, of Rockingham, N. C., was killed yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock at Steele's Crossing on the 3 C's division of the Southern Railway by train No. 114, in charge of Engineer Brickman and Conductor Myers, when the train struck an automobile in which she and two children were riding, the car being driven by C. A. Strait, of this city.

Strait, who had charge of the car for Holler & Hailey, of this city, who do a transfer business, had taken some parties to Catawba Junction to catch the Seaboard train for Atlanta, and Mrs. Phillips and two children had come in from Rockingham, and wanted to come to Rock Hill, so Strait was on the way here with them when at the crossing the train leaving this place for Columbia, via Camden, ran into them.

Mount Olive, N. C., June 16.—Walter Best, a farmer living near here, about 40 years of age, died at his home this morning, following a brief illness with pneumonia. A wife and three children survive.

SAYING LITTLE ABOUT IT

Judge Robinson and Mr. Handley Return From Chicago Conventions.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Goldsboro, N. C., June 16.—Hon. W. S. O'B. Robinson and Mr. John Handley have returned from the Republican National convention, but they "aint" saying much about it. They were for "Teddy" and therefore they haven't "got themselves together" since their candidate gave his advocates and adherents such a surprise. They are taking the same view of the situation as are many other followers of "Teddy" in this city and section, that it was "the blow that killed father" and Roosevelt spoke the plain truth when he declared that he was "out of politics," and there is little doubt in the minds of leading politicians in this section but that the Progressives will vote almost solidly for President Wilson.

Feel Miserable Every Morning?

Clean Your Liver With a Wineglassful of Tollo Water. In Half an Hour You Will Feel Fine

Those dull, gray mornings, when you hate to get up, come from a clogged liver. You can banish them clean out of your life by taking about a third of a tumbler of concentrated Tollo Water in a glass of plain water before breakfast.

When the liver can't expel the bile it is forced back into the stomach and is absorbed into the system and makes you drag around, feeling miserable all the time, especially in the morning. Your tongue becomes covered with a white, furry coat; you think you have stomach trouble, because your food distresses you by forming gas and feeling like lead after every meal. In a little while your skin turns yellow and the color fades out of your cheeks.

Don't take drugs or calomel; they will weaken your system and make you worse. Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from your drug store and take a little every morning for a few days. It will dissolve the bile — really bathe the liver and flush the waste from the system. Keep taking it for a few mornings. You will get back your energy; the natural, rosy color will come back to your cheeks, and you can eat all you like without suffering afterwards.

After you have taken this water regularly for a few days and thoroughly cleaned the liver and bowels, an occasional glass will keep the complexion pink and make you feel good all the time.

AND NOW GOLDSBORO MERCHANT IS AT A LOSS TO KNOW THE WHYFORES OF HIS NEW POSSESSION

(Special Star Correspondence).

Goldsboro, N. C., June 16.—Mr. P. H. Spence, a local merchant, has a bag full of money in his safe and informed a reporter today that he was unable to find the owner of same.

Several weeks ago, according to the statement of Mr. Spence, a gentleman entered his store and handed him a bag and asked him to place it in his safe for a few hours, saying he would return later and get same.

At the time the incident took place the merchant claims he was busy as the store was full of customers and gave no more thought to the bag or its owner and had forgotten the incident until this morning, when he went to look over some private papers, and discovered the bag still there and was puzzled why the owner had not returned for his property.

The merchant opened the bag and discovered that it was full of money of different denominations, consisting of nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars.

As no robberies have occurred in this city or immediate section Mr. Spence is at a loss to account for the strange way in which he became the possessor of the money and says he would be glad if the proper owner would call, identify his bag and its contents and get his property which would greatly relieve his mind.

ALL READY FOR WEDDING. BUT GROOM NEVER CAME

Goldsboro Puzzled Over Mysterious Absence of Will Powell.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Goldsboro, N. C., June 16.—"Where is Will Powell?" is a question being asked today by friends and the bride-elect, a well-known young lady of this city, who last night was to have been wedded to Mr. owell, who has mysteriously disappeared, leaving behind no trace of his whereabouts.

Wedding invitations had been issued announcing the marriage several days previous to the set date and promptly at the appointed hour last night friends and relatives of the young couple, who are both of good families in this city, had gathered to witness the ceremony, together with the minister who was scheduled to officiate, but at a late hour the distressed "bride-to-be" was still waiting at the church and wondering why the groom did not put in his appearance.

No one can account for the sudden taking off of Mr. Powell, who was seen in the city late yesterday afternoon, and, according to a statement of the young lady whom Powell was engaged to wed, they had had no quarrel and were, according to her belief, just as much in love as they had ever been.

COTTON UNDERGOES LOSS

Bullish Private Crop Report Fails to Stimulate General Buying—Decline Partly Recovered.

New York, June 16.—A bullish private crop report failed to stimulate any general buying in the cotton market here today but an early decline was partly recovered with the close steady at a net loss of 3 to 5 points. October sold down to 12.98 to 12.89 during the morning and rallied to 12.94, closing at 12.92.

The opening was irregular at an advance of thre epoints to a decline of two points. Prospects for clearing weather in the Western belt and the absence of crop damage scomplaint from the South seemed to inspire scattering liquidation an dthe market soon turned easier. Active months sold 6 to 8 points under last night's close before the end of the morning, with July touching 12.74 and December 13.05, or about 10 points under the best level reached on the bulge of yesterday afternoon.

The decline was checked around midday by the publication of a private report making the condition of the crop 80.7 per cent. as of June 11 compared with 82.1 per cent. toward the end of May. This indicated a deterioration of 1.5 per cent. for the period. Offerings were smaller thereafter, but no general demand developed and moderate rallies were not fully maintained although closing prices showed recoveries of 3 or 4 points from the lowest.

WEEK'S REVIEW OF COTTON

Market Has Been Quiet, With Fluctuations Irregular and Prices Working Somewhat Lower.

New York, June 16.—The cotton market has been quiet during the week and fluctuations have been irregular with prices working between 12 3-4 and 13 cents for October. Much of the buying here has been covering by Liverpool straddle shorts, and differences between foreign and American markets have narrowed, owing to the easier ruling of ocean freight rates. There also has been local covering on rather less optimistic views of the new crop's progress. The weekly weather bureau report read less favorably than expected, owing to unseasonably low temperatures, while the persistent rains were thought likely to result in a poor top root. Private crop report issued on Wednesday indicated an improvement of only 1.1 per cent. between May 32 and June 8, while today a report was issued of even a more bullish character as it indicated a deterioration of 1-4 per cent. between May 25 and June 11. These advices have checked selling and inspired more or less covering of short accounts, but demand has been far from general and prices at the close of business tonight, ruled around 12.92 for October, comparing with 13.00, the high point of last Saturday, and 12.62, the low level reached on the break at the beginning of the month. The monthly censlus figures showed continued activity among domestic mills with consumption at the rate of about 7,400,-000 bales for the reason, including linters and foreign cotton, but stocks of raw material in manufacturing establishments at the beginning of June were larger than at the same date last year, and no improvement has been reported in the demand from domestic spinners. Spot sales in Liverpool have been smaller owing to the mill holidays in Lancashire and stocks of American coton there showed an increase in the export movement was reflected in a sharp loss of stock at the counted interior towns and Southern spot markets have been generally steady.

STOCKS YIELD TO PRESSURE

Alarming Mexican Reports Precipitate Moderate But General Buying. Early Strength Lost.

New York, June 16.—For four hours today the stock market showed few noteworthy price changes, except for some irregularity in specialties, but in the final hour alarming reports regarding Mexican affairs precipitated moderate but general selling.

Rails and other standard stocks yielded 1 to almost 2 points from their early best, with greater declines in various speculative issues.

Throughout the morning dealings were professional and very bearish, largely as a result of the breach between the railway managers and their employes. The railroad group, aside from Reading and Norfolk & Western, was unusually inactive. Minor rails were elevated 1 to 2 points on small transactions, and Louisville & Nashville made further favorable responses to the resumption of the regular seven per cent. rate dividend.

American Beet Sugar scored an early decline of more than 2 points, which it soon recovered, but as promptly lost later. Copper and Zinc shares were subject to persistent pressure.

Crucible Steel made a substantial gain, but fell back with the balance of the list. United States Steel manifested some early strength which was soon dissipated. Total sales, 380,000 shares. Foreign Exchange was active.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,675,000. Panama coupon 3s and registered 3c declined 1-2 and 1-4 per cent., respectively, on call.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

Further Gradual Contraction in Buying. Order Books Mostly Full.

New York, June 16.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Trade currents, following the reaching of maximum expansion, seems to indicate a further general contraction, at least as regards new buying. But the situation, except in a comparatively few lines—lumber for instance—is strongly buttressed by filled up order books which insure activity in industrial quarters for some time to come. Lower ocean freight rates, enlarged dividends, evidences of renewed heavy buying of steel for foreign account and the perfecting of a $50,000,000 loan to Russia are also significant features. Nothwithstanding that the time for seasonal quiet has arrived, activity in essentials is marked, though unattended, of course, by symptoms of feverishness such as characterized purchases a while ago. Instead there has come orderly, steady buying with evidences of a prudent disposition to eliminate upbidding as well as to guard against sudden downward shifts in prices.

"Weekly bank clearings, $4,676,913,-000."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Market Falls Away Moderately on Fair Weather Forecast.

New Orleans, June 16.—Cotton fell away moderately today chiefly as the result of the forecast of fair weather for the western half of the belt. On the first call moderate buying developed and prices went 1 to 2 points over yesterday's close. The demand soon fell off and values gradually sagged to a level six to eleven points under yesterday's last quotations. In the afternoon the market was somewhat steadier on a private bureau report showing deterioration during the last fortnight and on the good showing made by mill takings, but the close was steady at a net loss of 3 to 6 points.

Rumors of still further reductions in ocean freight rates were construed both bullishly and bearishly. On the one hand, it was considered lower freights would stimulate the export demand while on the other it was contended lack of such a demand was directly responsible for the lower rates.

Closing bid: July 13.62; October 12.73; December 12.88; January 12.98; March 13.13.

Spot cotton steady and unchanged. Sales on the spot 635 bales; to arrive 600 bales. Middling 12.69.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

Liverpool, June 16.—Spot cotton steady; good middling 8.41; middling 8.25; low middling 8.07. Sales 3,000; 500 for speculation and export; receipts 6,000.

Futures barely steady: June 7.97; June and July 7.93½; July and August 7.89; August and September 7.83½; September and October 7.77; October and November 7.72½; November and December 7.67½; December and January 7.65; January and February 7.63; February and March 7.62; March and April 7.61½; April and May 7.60; May and June 7.59; June and July 7.57.

SUNDAY 'BLUE LAW' TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Roanoke Citizens, Firms and Corporations Warned by Police

They Have Even Intimated That Newsboys, Church Organists, Newspaper Men and Others May be Subject to Arrest.

Roanoke, Va., June 16.—Roanoke citizens, firms and corpofations have been warned by the local police department that the so-called Sunday "blue law" will be enforced to the letter beginning Sunday June 18 when what is known as the "ouster law," passed by the Virginia legislature last spring, becomes effective . Under the Ouster Act any officer of trust may be forced into court to show cause why he shall not be removed from office on complaint of any persons that he has failed in his official duty or is guilty of misconduct.

The police tonight intimated that the street railway company, the telephone company, newspapers publishers, operators of jitney cas, telegraph operators and practically all public service corporations will be summoned into court if they or their employes labor during Sunday hours. The enforcement of the law, it is said, depends largely on the official definition of the word "necessity" as applying to human activit yon Sunday. The police have gone so far as to intimate that church organists ,newsboys and transfer companies will be subject to arrest for violations of the "blue law."

Tonight it was learned that a large public utility corporation expects to file complaint against members of the local police department for alleged derelictions of duty in the past, holding that for years the officers "have knowingly and consistently violated their sworn oaths of office."

Legislators contend that the "ouster law" was designed by the Virginia Assembly to aid in the enforcement of the prohibition laws in the state after November 1 when Virginia goes dry. Police authorities in many Virginia cities, however, hold that to "be on the safe side" they will see that the statutes of the commonwealth are recognized to the letter.

CHALLENGES COMPARISON OF DEMOCRACY'S RECORD WITH THAT OF ANY OTHER

ive of this nation's unity and integrity, and as destructive of its welfare, the activities and designs of every group or organization, political or otherwise, that has for its object the advancement of the interest of a foreign power, whether such object is promoted by intimidating the government, a political party, of representatives of the people or which is calculated and tends to divide our people into antagonistic groups and thus to destroy that complete agreement and solidarity of the people and that unity of sentiment and national purpose so essential to the perpetuity of the nation and its free institutions.

"We condemn all alliances and combinations of individuals in this country, of whatever nationality or descent, who agree and conspire together for the purpose of embarrassing or weakening our government or of improperly influencing or coercing our public representatives in dealing or negotiating with any foreign power. We charge that such conspiracies among a limited number exist and have been instigated for the purpose of advancing the interests of foreign countries to the prejudice and detriment of our own country. We condemn any political party which in view of the activity of such conspirators surrenders its integrity or modifies its policy.

Preparedness.

"* * * We favor the maintenance of an army fully adequate to the requirements of order, of safety and of the protection of the nation's rights, the fullest development of modern methods of seacoast defense and the maintenance of an adequate reserve of citizens trained to arms and prepared to safeguard the people and territory of the United States against any danger of hostile action which may unexpectedly arise, and a fixed policy for the continuous development of a navy worthy to support the great naval traditions of the United States and fully equal to th einternational tasks which the United States hopes and expects to take a part in performing. The plans and enactments of the present Congress afford substantial proof of our purpose in this evigent matter.

International Relations.

"The Democratic administration has throughout the present war scrupulously and successfully held to the old paths of neutrality and of the peaceful pursuit of the legitimate objects of our national life which statesmen of all parties and creeds have prescribed for themselves in America since the beginning of our history. * * *

"'We believe that every people has the right to choose the sovereignty under which it shall live; that the small states of the world have a right to enjoy from other nations the same respect for their sovereignty and for their territorial integrity that great and powerful nations expect and insist upon, and that the world has a right to be free from every disturbance of its peace that has its origin in aggression or disregard of the rights of peoples and nations; and we believe that the time has come when it is the duty of the United States to join with the other nations of the world in any feasible association that will effectively serve theire principles, to maintain inviolate the complete security of the highway of the seas for the common and unhindered use of all nations.

"The present administration has consistently sought to act upon and realize in its conduct of the foreign affairs of the nation the principle that should be the object of any association of the nations formed to secure the peace of the world, and the maintenance of national and individual rights. It has followed the highest American traditions It has preferred respect for the fundamental rights of smaller states, even to property interests and has secured the friendship of the people of these states for the United States for refusing to make a mere material interest an excuse for the assertion of our superior power against the dignity of their sovereign independence.

"'It has regarded the lives of its citizen and the claims of humanity as of greater moment than material rights, and peace as the best basis for the just settlement of commercial claims. It has made the honor and ideals of the United States its standard alike in negotiation and action.

Mexico.

"The Monroe Doctrine is re-asserted as a principle of Democratic faith. * * *

"The want of a stable, responsible government in Mexico, capable of repressing and punishing marauders and bandit bands who have not only taken the lives and seized and destroyed the property of American citizens in that country, but have insolently invaded our soil, made war upon and murdered our people thereon, has rendered it necessary, temporarily to occupy, by our armed forces, a portion of the territory of that friendly states. Until, by the restoration of law and order therein, a repetition of such incursions is improbable, the necessity for their remaining will continue.

"Intervention, implying, as it does, military subjugation, is revolting to the people of the United States, notwithstanding the provocation to that course has been great, and should be resorted to, if at all, only as a last resort. The stubborn resistance of the President and his advisers to every demand and suggestion to enter upon it, is creditable alike to them and to the people in whose name he speaks.

Woman Suffrage.

"We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men. * * *

(The suffrage plank submitted by the minority, which was rejected, read: "The Democratic party has always stood for the sovereignty of the several states in the control and regulation of elections. We re-affirm the historic position of our party in this regard and favor the continuance of that wise provision of the Federal constitution which vests in the several states of the Union the power to prescribe the qualifications of their electors; which said last quoted provision was voted down in said committee by a vote of 26 to 17, and we hereby tender said provision as a minority report and ask its adoption by this convention."

Labor.

"We declare our faith in the Seamen's act, passed by the Democratic Congress, and we promise our earnest continuance of its enforcement.

"We favor the speedy enactment of an effective Federal child labor law, and the regulation of the shipment of prison-made goods in interstate commerce.

"We favor the creation of a federal bureau of safety in the Department of Labor to gather facts concerning industrial hazards and to recommend legislation to prevent the maiming and killing of human beings.

"We favor the extension of the powers and functions of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

"We favor the development upon a systematic scale of the means already begun under the present administration, to assist laborers throughout the nation to see kand obtain employment, and the extension by the Federal government, by the same assistance and encouragement as is now given to agricultural training.

"We heartily commend our newly established department of labor for its excellent record in settling industrial strikes by personal advice and through conciliating agents."

Subjects of other planks were Merchant Marine, Conservation, the Administration and the Farmer, Good Roads, Public Health and Prison Reform.

In a plank endorsing the President and Vice President. Woodrow Wilson is called the "greatest American of his generation."

The concluding paragraph of the platform says:

America's Critical Hour.

"This is a critical hour in the history of America, a critical hour in the history of the world. Upon record above set forth which shows great constructive achievement in following out a consistent policy for our domestic and internal development; upon the record of the Democratic administration which has maintained the honor, the dignity and the interests of the United States and at the same time retained the respect and friendship of all the nations of the world, and upon the great policies for the future strengthening of the life of our country, the enlargement of our national vision and the ennobling of our international relations as set forth above, we appeal with confidence to the voters of the country.

PLATFORM ADOPTED WITH PLANKS ON AMERICANISM AND SUFFRAGE

statements with cries "That's not what he said," and "That's not fair." Many delegates openly took the position that the question was becoming much confused by the manner of its presentation. Finally, Senator Stone yielded to Senator Pittman, of Nevada, one of the suffrage champions.

Pittman Makes Appeal.

The crowd wanted to howl Pittman down and cried "Vote, vote."

"Yes, I know you want to vote," Pittman shouted at his opponents, "you'd rather do anything else than hear the rtuth."

"Are you men who are willing to hear women denounced afraid to hear a man say something in their behalf? I want to appeal to you to give your sisters and daughters and mothers the right to vote."

"What's that to do with this," chorused the delegates.

Finally, ignoring lesser outbreaks and shouting above the din and confusion, Pittman managed to get through with his speech.

In an impassioned speech Senator Walsh swept aside the smaller questions which had been injected into the fight, told the delegates that President Wilson himself knew the plank was in the platform and considered it essential for party victory.

Walsh Converts Opposition.

"Whatever your opinions may be," he said, "we shall never be anything but a discordant and divided party unless we surrender some of our convictions to the wisdom of a majority. Here you are confronted, as one of our famous leaders said, 'with a condition, not a theory.' The 12 suffrage states represent 91 votes in the electoral college. Every political party has made this declaration in some form or other. It becomes a simple question of whether you will incur the enmity of these women. There is no possibility of losing a single vote if you adopt this majority plank because every other party has done the same.

"I ask you," he cried, "if you're going to put a resolution in here that's a lie. You can't adopt this minority report without stultifying yourselves."

Senator Walsh then explained that the President knew about the suffrage plank and added:

"He believes it vital to his success that it stay there. I ask you with all the fervor of my being who is there here who is wiser or more patriotic than he?"

Thunder, Rain and Voices.

While the fight had been going on, a thunderstorm burst and when the row on the convention floor was at its height the storm reached its climax. The booming of the thunder mixed with the roaring shouts on the floor and the clatter caused by the rain on the roof almost drowned out the speakers. The storm cleared just as Senator Walsh finished speaking an dthe closing words of his plea for the administration plank swept a change of sentiment over the crowd as welcome to the suffragists as the wave of cool refreshing air that poured down into the coliseum.

There were renewed cries "Vote, vote," but they were no shouts for the defeat of the plank. As the clerks called the roll of states, the votes toppled ino the column supporting the plank as the committee had written it so fast that he defea of the substitute was assured before he call had gone a dozen states.

Tar Heel Vote Divided.

North Carolina cast 11 votes for the minority report and 13 against it; South Carolina 18, against it, and Virginia 24 against it.

At the close of the roll call the whole platform as written was adopted and after disposing of some formalities, the convention adjourned sine die at 3:11 o'clock.

AMERICA WILL NOT USE HER SWORD TO BRING ABOUT WAR

English Editor Comments on Preparedness Issue in United States.

London, June 17.—"The preparedness issue in America means that the greatest power on the face of the globe has come into the world system to secure herself against war and the effects of war," says Alfred G. Gariner, editor of the Daily News, in a two column editorial in that newspaper today.

"So far as the United States is concerned the forthcoming presidential election is the most momentus since Lincoln was chosen. So far as the world is concerned it is incomparably more momentous because it is to decide what America stands for in regard to the future of the world. And with that decision, not the interests of America alone, but the interests of Europe and of the whole earth are bound up.

"The underlying watchword of the preparedness issue which is sweeping the United States is the idea that the power of America should be used to deliver humanity from the toils in which it has been enmeshed by the past; it should be the weapon of a new dispensation and that the affairs of men shall henceforth be subject to the arbitrament not of force but of justice.

"The sword which America is forging will be used not to make war but to make war on war and lay the foundation of world security. It means that America will be the saviour of Europe."

SENSATIONAL RESOLUTION VOTED DOWN BY COMMITTEE

Would Have Empowered President to Name Campaign Committee.

St. Louis, June 16.—A resolution presented at a meeting of the Democratic National committee tonight that provided that the committee name its chairman and secretary from its own membership and that the Democratic Presidential nominee be empowred to select a campaign committee and name its officers, created a sensation among the committee gathered to effect their organization. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 46 to 13 after a debate lasting until after midnight.

During the debate on the resolution the action of President Wilson in suggesting the names of the officers of the new committee was freely discussed and National Committeeman Moore, who presented the resolution, declared that the President should not have the power to impose his will upon the committee, adding: "I do not want to put it in the power of any man to create ap residential dynasty." After the resolution was defeated the following officers of the new committee were elected:

Vance McCormick, of Pennsylvania, chairman; Homer Cummings, of Connecticut, vice chairman; Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, secretary; W W. Marshall, of Iowa, treasurer; John I. Martin, Missouri, sergeant-at-arms.

FAVORABLE REPORT SUBMITTED

On the Annual Army Appropriation Bill Carrying $157,123,099.

Washington, June 16.—A favorable report of the annual army appropriation bill carrying $157,123,099 was submitted to the House today by Chairman Hay of the Military committee. Besides providing for regular army increases, federalization of the National Guard and civilian training camps authorized by the new army reorganization bill, the measure would create defense, and permit use of army transports to carry commercial cargoes between the United States and its insular possessions.

Provision is made for a $600 annuity for Mrs. Harriet Carroll, mother of the late surgeon, James Carroll, who discovered the yellow fever germ at the cost of his life. The bill probably will be taken up in the House next week.

sent to arbitrate the question of hours and overtime.

Rather than precipitate a general strike, brotherhood leaders intimated, the men might be satisfied with a 9-hour day and time a quarter over time and an 8-hour day and time and half over time demand.

Garretson Makes Statement.

A. B. Garretson, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors, and spokesman for the men during the conference, said tonight:

"The public must not lose sight of the fact that no counter proposition has been offered by the railroads to the demands of the men. It is impossible for the brotherhoods to take a decisive stand until the railroads make their position clear. As the situation stands now, the brotherhoods submitted their demands to the railroads and they were rejected."

Most of the delegates will leave for their homes tomorro wnight. Within a week the strike ballot will be in the hands of 370,000 brotherhood members and more than 50,000 other workers who are not members. The vote, the leaders expect, will be canvassed late in July, after which they will return here.

TEXTILE ASSOCIATION MEETS AT ASHEVILLE

The delegates were given a smoker and dance at the Langren Hotel tonight and a drive through Biltmore estate this afternoon.

In reference to child labor legislation President Sherard said:

"There have been many changes recently in laws regulating hours of labor for children in textile plants. If present tendencies continue, it will not be long before the age limit is raised everywhere, either by state or Federal enactment. Increased inefficiency of operatives will follow an effective compulsory attendance school law.

PRESIDENT TO CONFER WITH LEADERS AT AN EARLY DATE

Plans For Vigorous Campaign Will Then Begin to Take Shape.

Washington, June 16.—Plans for the vigorous Democratic campaign that will be directed from the White House will begin to take shape after President Wilson has conferred with Vance McCormick, the new chairman of the National Committee, and other party leaders, probably next week. The President probably will receive formal notification of his re-nomination at Shadow Lawn, N. J.

Hundreds of congratulatory messages reached the White House today from all parts of the country.

The President spent the morning at the cabinet meeting and in the afternoon motored with Mrs. Wilson.

Augusta, Me., June 16.—United States Senator Edwin C. Burleigh, for four years governor of this state, died at his residence here tonight after a brief attack of acute indigestion. His wife died a month ago in Washington.
